LITTLE CHANCE FOR EMBARGO OR TARIFF ACTION

Oil Producers' Plea Contrary to Treaty Written at Geneva
TIME IS TOO LIMITED Expect Oil Bill to Be Side-tracked in Final Legislative Rush

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1931, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—(CFA)—Although
the house may pass a bill limiting the imports of oil and the senate commerce committee has already reported out such a measure, the chances are there will be no legislation either of an embargo or a tariff limitation at this session.

Independent oil producers want an embargo but this is said to contravene the treaty entered into by the United States at Geneva, whereby all nations denounced the embargo. The administration has come forward with a proposal that the imports be limited to 10 per cent of American production.

The argument is made by the independent producers that while they are limited in their domestic production, the bigger oil companies can depress the price by continuous importation. It is proposed that imports be limited to two hundred thousand barrels a day. Most of the fields from which the imports are taken are American owned. Some of these same companies which import oil for domestic use also are engaged in refining the product for export. It is believed that ultimately the American companies would transfer their foreign production to the markets which have hitherto been filled by American exports.

Question of Gas Price
In opposition to this line of reasoning the views are advanced that any limitation on imports will cause an increase in the price of gasoline to the automobile drivers of America
as well as an increase in the price of asphalt for paving. The answer is made that gasoline prices will remain constant because of the competitive conditions and owing to the large number of filling stations.

But while these contentions are being made there isn't really time enough for extended debate and it is apparent that the whole question of embargoes will be raised in the senate if the oil proposals reach the stage of consideration. The chances are that in the last minute legislative jam the oil bill will be sidetracked, though to be sure a determined effort to get action on the bill may be expected. This is because the independent oil producers of Oklahoma, Texas, California and other states which have submitted to the ratification of production are insistent that something be done to aid them.
The plan is to apply the embargo, or limitation of imports, purely as an emergency measure for three years.
To overcome the objections relating to the Geneva treaty the suggestion has been made that American importers should voluntarily limit themselves to one-tenth of American production. They are afraid however of running afoul of the Clayton act and a law has been proposed that a law be passed permitting the Federal Trade Commission to accept such a voluntary agreement by the importers as a matter of trade agreement. It is likely that the whole matter will come up again at the next session of congress.

Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, heiress to a malted milk fortune, has been given a divorce at Kenosha, Wis., from Dr. John Streeter Sidley. At the same time it was reported that Dr. Sidley would settle the $250,000 divorce suit which he had filed against W. Perkins Bull, K. C., Canadian "man of mystery."

State Vote On Utilities Is Approved

Senate Adopts Loomis Res- olution on State Own- ership, 18 to 14

Madison—(P)—The bitterly-contested joint resolution which calls for a constitutional amendment to permit the state to engage in the public utility business was adopted by the senate today and immediately mes-saged to the assembly. The vote was 18 to 14.

Under the terms of the resolution, the question of state-owned and operated utilities will be put to a referendum vote. The present assembly and the next legislature must pass the resolution before it goes to a referendum. The legislative following the referendum must then adopt the measure before it becomes law.

The state is given a wide field in the public utility business by the resolution, which was introduced by Sen. O. S. Loomis, Madison Progressive. The state may, under this measure, recapture its water power and engage generally in the light, heat and power business. It would be permitted to own power at its source.

DEATH TAKES MOTHER OF MAL DAUGHERTY

Washington Court House, Ohio—(P)—Mrs. Jane Daugherty, widow of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and Mal S. Daugherty, who is on trial here for alleged misapplication of funds while president of the closed Ohio State bank, died at her home early today. She was 55 years old.

Mrs. Daugherty, one of the signers of the $46,000 bond for her son Mal, had been ill only four days from influenza and heart disease.

Indications were that the trial of Mal would be continued until after his mother's funeral. It was delayed yesterday until this morning when Judge Charles S. Bell who is hearing the case learned of the seriousness of the bankers' mother's illness. She had been a widow for 57 years.

STILL REQUIRE ITALIAN ENTRY IN ARMS PACT

Attitude of Rome to Decide if Treaty Will Be Five- Power Affair

Paris—(P)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Charles Dumont, minister of the navy, announced today that France and Great Britain had reached a laval accord in principle, conditional upon ratification and participation by Italy. They added that the agreement would be held secret until its approval by Italy.

Paris—(P)—An agreement between the French and British foreign ministers, Aristide Briand and Arthur Henderson, on the conditions under which France will adhere to the London Naval treaty was virtually reached this afternoon.

Mr. Henderson and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, now will make an effort to obtain the adhesion of Italy to the accord. If they succeed the London tripartite treaty between the United States, Great Britain and Japan will become a five power treaty.

Should Italy decline to enter the agreement it was understood this afternoon, the Franco-British arrangement would become null, since England up to the present time has declined to subscribe to a safeguard clause. This safeguard clause, as suggested by M. Briand, would permit France to resume her liberty of action should Italy intensify her naval building.

FEAR FORMER OSHKOSH PASTOR KILLED SELF

Los Angeles—(P)—Authorities today investigated the disappearance of the Rev. J. W. Greenwood, 50, and minister and former pastor of the Trinity church, Oshkosh, Wis.

His daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. L. Greenwood, said she feared he had committed suicide by leaping from the steamship Alexander while on a trip from San Diego to Los Angeles.

TWO WOMEN LEAP TO DEATH FROM BUILDINGS

Chicago—(P)—Two women chose to die by leaping from tall buildings in the Loop. One, an unidentified woman of 40, plunged 19 stories out of the Capitol building on State-st., missing by inches many pedestrians on the sidewalk. Two girls, at whose feet she fell, fainting.

The second woman, Miss Mary Louise Hanley, 27, a beauty parlor proprietor, fell to her death from the thirteenth story of the Morrison hotel.

HONOR CAPT. HAWKS

Paris—(P)—Frank Hawks, American speed flier, today was named America's "premier aviator" for 1930 by the International League of Aviators.

Peruvian Cruiser Off To Close Port Held By Rebels

Provisional President Offers Olive Branch to Arequipa Insurgents

Lima, Peru—(P)—The Peruvian cruiser Bolognesi has sailed for Molendo to enforce the closing of that city, which is the port for Arequipa, now in the hands of army insurgents. The vessel left last night under orders from the ministry of the navy. The newspaper La Prensa announced today that more than 400 former service men of 1,600 called to arms by Provisional President Sanchez Cerro have reported for army duty in Lima. The reserves were called out because of the revolt in southern Peru.

Lima, Peru—(P)—Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, provisional president, today tendered an olive branch to the insurgents who have occupied Arequipa, second city of the republic.

In a manifesto to the army he renounced his candidacy for the constitutional presidency of the country and then issued a decree cancelling the scheduled elections and providing for election of members of a projected constituent assembly.

In the manifesto he asked the soldiers not to be deceived by "those who made commerce of politics." He promised that the principles outlined last summer when a revolution placed him in power would be carried out.

The duties of the assembly, which will meet May 2, will be to organize the executive power provisionally; to make a new constitution; to pass laws for general and municipal elections, and to set a date for presidential elections. When these tasks are concluded it will act as congress until the new constitution can be put in force.

Meanwhile the provisional government is continuing enlistment of reserves for service in restoring order in southern Peru. Strict censorship is in force. Official announcements claim that only Arequipa has been affected by the military movement and that the attitude of civilians has forced the rebel armies to camp outside the bounds of the city.

SELECT JURY FOR TRIAL AT ANTIGO

58 Prospective Jurors Up for Examination in Murphy Murder

Antigo—(P)—The trial of Mrs. Rose Nichols, 43, and her son, Lawrence, 23, charged with being accessories to the murder of John Murphy, 35-year-old Doorbrook farmer, was started before Judge Edgar V. Werner of Appleton, in circuit court here today.

Examination of a panel of 58 prospective jurors was started shortly before noon after the two defendants entered pleas of not guilty. The jury was expected to be completed late today.

Defense attorneys were making an attempt to throw out some of the testimony taken at the preliminary hearing at which Curtis Cokerham, the confessed slayer, declared the Nichols' plotted the slaying in order to possess the property of Murphy, brother of the accused woman.

Cokerham, a farm hand who courted Mrs. Nichols while working on the Murphy farm and through letters, told authorities he shot the farmer after Mrs. Nichols and Lawrence promised him an automobile for the act. He is now under life sentence for the slaying. But his commitment was started to permit his appearance as a state's witness.

ANNOUNCE MERGER OF THREE SUGAR PLANTS

Green Bay—(P)—Consolidation of three Wisconsin and upper Michigan sugar factories, with chief operations here was reported today by the Monominee Sugar company of Monominee, Mich.

The company reported its officers for a newly organized firm to be J. H. Taylor, Green Bay, treasurer; G. W. McCormick, president; Alfred Hanes, vice president, and A. C. Willis and G. A. Blach, directors, all of Monominee; and J. Spuhler, Green Bay, secretary.

GALESVILLE FARMER CLAIMS HE HAS HEN LAYING GOLDEN EGGS

Galesville—(P)—Chris Thompson, farmer near here, today claimed ownership of a hen that lays "golden eggs."

Two eggs, one of a pure gold appearance and the other splashed with the color of the metal, have been gathered by Thompson from his flock of ordinary hens.

The unusual eggs will be sent to Madison for examination at the state college of agriculture while the farmer attempts to determine which of the hens is responsible for seeking to emulate the proverbial goose.

MEYER NOMINATION DEBATED IN SENATE

Wagner Employment Ex- changes Measure Sent to White House

Washington—(P)—The senate and house debated their ways today toward votes on two controversial questions—the nomination of Eugene Meyer, as governor of the Federal Reserve board and elimination of "lame duck" sessions of congress.

Faced temporarily with a bill to provide for the Mount Vernon Memorial highway, proponents of Meyer expected to call up his nomination during the day with a hope of at least testing the strength of the opposition.

Congressional action on the Wagner bill to establish a system of national employment exchanges in cooperation with the states was completed when the senate concurred in house amendments. It now goes to the White House, where its fate is unknown because of the administration support of a substitute plan, which was rejected.

The house interstate commerce committee approved the Parker resolution to authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate and recommend legislation for control of interstate transportation facilities competing with railroads.

In another committee room, cigar smokers voiced opposition to a ban on Sumatra tobacco, contending it would destroy the industry.

2 BOMBS SET OFF IN CHICAGO; $2,200 LOSS

Chicago—(P)—Two black powder bombs were set off early today, doing a total damage of $2,200.

One shattered practically every window in the five story twine mill of the giant International Harvester company works on the west side. The other wrecked the front of a small bakery on the south side belonging to Joseph Wukins.

While labor trouble is believed responsible by investigators for the international bombing, the bakery was believed damaged because Wukins has been selling a pound loaf of bread for 7 cents while his competitors were charging 10 cents.

DENIES FURTHER DELAY IN BUCKLEY SLAYING

Detroit—(P)—Recorder's Judge Edward J. Jeffries today denied the state's motion for a 10-day adjournment of the trial of Ted Pizzino, Joe Bonmarito and Angelo Livochi, indicted for the slaying of Radio Announcer Jerry Buckley last July. The judge announced that the trial would not under way tomorrow morning with himself presiding.

DEATH CLOSES LONG CAREER OF F. S. BRADFORD

Prominent Appleton Attor- ney Dies at Residence This Morning

Death claimed F. S. Bradford, 68, one of Appleton's most prominent attorneys and citizens, at his home at 312 W. Prospect-ave. about 1 o'clock this morning. For the last year or so Mr. Bradford's health was failing, and about six weeks ago he was stricken while in the midst of a trial at the courthouse. He had been confined to his bed since.

Mr. Bradford was born Feb. 15, 1863, at Wausau where his father was acting as a government Indian agent. His father died in a severe snowstorm while on a hunting trip, and the widow brought the family to Appleton in 1879. Mr. Bradford attended Lawrence academy and then he spent three years at Lawrence college. Shortly after he left college in 1887 he passed the bar examinations, but he did not immediately enter the practice of law.

He then became affiliated with the Appleton Post as assistant city editor serving under A. J. Reel. He held this position for two years, and then accepted a position as a reporter for the circuit court of the district. In 1898 he became a candidate for circuit judge, and was defeated by Judge Goodland. After his unsuccessful campaign he opened a law office.

First Rotary President
Mr. Bradford was prominent in civic affairs ever since he came to Appleton. He was a charter member of the Appleton Elk's club and served that organization for a term as exalted ruler. He was the first president of the Rotary club. For many years he served on the school board, and he was a member of the library board from the time of its organization until 1920, when pressing personal affairs made it necessary for him to relinquish his duties on the board. He also was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Survivors are the widow and four children, Alfred, Francis, Helen and Josephine. All were at his bedside before death came. The daughters are teachers in the schools at Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Alfred was associated here with his father in the law practice and Francis is painting murals in New York City.

Private funeral services will be held at the residence at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, with services at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church. Dr. H. E. Peabody will be in charge, and burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

TRY TO SOLVE TORCH MURDER IN ILLINOIS

Waukegan, Ill.—(P)—In an effort to solve the Deep Lake "torch" murder mystery of a year ago, State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake-co last night requested Cleveland police to question Yvonne Richman Marco, widow of the slain New York gangster.

BULLETIN

Bessemer, Mich.—(P)—Firemen fighting a stubborn blaze which threatened to destroy an entire block of buildings in Bessemer's downtown section resorted to the use of dynamite shortly before 2 o'clock p. m. today to combat the spread of the flames. The explosive tore a hole in the roof of a two-story frame building, providing an opening through which streams of water were poured on the flames.

Attorney Dies

F. S. Bradford, 68, veteran Appleton attorney, died at 1 o'clock this morning at his home on W. Prospect-ave. Taken ill more than a year ago, he recovered and continued his practice, but he was stricken again about six weeks ago.

Bulls Keep Control As Stocks Rise

New York—(P)—The bulls put their shoulders to the wheel in the stock market today and prices rolled $1 to $1 a share higher in extremely active trading.

So vigorous was the rally during the first hour that the high speed deler was right on the heels of the leading transactions. Activity slackened somewhat toward midday when considerable profit-taking appeared, but sponsors of the advance found new leaders in the copper and chemicals and the small losses were quickly regained.

Westinghouse Electric and J. I. Case were featured, climbing $7. Union Carbide and Allied Chemical pushed up about $5. Anaconda rose $2 and International Nickel, Granby, Howe Sound, American Smelting and Kennecott a dollar or more.

Stocks up $3 or more included American and Foreign Power, Standard Gas and Electric, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Radio and American Water Works. U. S. Steel, opening at the new 1931 high of $150, added a few cents to that quotation and then shaded off. Bethlehem Steel, American Tobacco B Houston Oil, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Coca Cola advanced $2 to $2.75.

Heaviness of the rails stood out. New York Central lost nearly $2 and there were declines of about a dollar in Union Pacific, St. Louis, San Francisco and Atchafson.

SOLONS IN HEATED TIFF ON FISH BILL

Assembly Refuses to Recon- sider Vote on Sigman Measure

Madison—(P)—After a debate marked with sharp personal exchanges, the assembly today refused by a vote of 45 to 39 to reconsider the Sigman bill which would prohibit the conservation commission from taking fish for spawn in Lake Michigan and Green Bay.

The bill, which also proposed to close the fishing season in Green Bay and Lake Michigan from Oct. 15 to Nov. 30 except for herring and perch in the former waters, was killed by the assembly last week.

Assemblyman David Sigman, Two Rivers, author of the bill, charged Assemblyman Moulton Goff, Sturgeon Bay, with "personally attacking a fellow assemblyman and besmirching the character of a member of his own family" in newspaper interviews referring to him and his brother, Samuel Sigman, Appleton, lobbyist for the commercial fishermen's association, as particularly persons something which "is very bad public policy."

While reading a newspaper article directed at his family, Sigman was interrupted by Speaker Perry who requested that he "refrain from discussing the merits of the Sigman family and confine your remarks to the merits of your bill."

DIES 5 HOURS AFTER DEATH OF HUSBAND

Racine—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hegeman, retired farmers living at Watertown, were dead today at the ages of 60 and 60 years, respectively.

Hegeman succumbed to an ailment from which he had suffered since 12 years ago. Mrs. Hegeman died five hours after her husband as the result of a stroke.

CLARK DECISION OVER-RULED BY SUPREME COURT

Congress Has Full Jurisdiction to Decide Mode of Ratification

JUSTICES UNANIMOUS Court Held Amendment Valid in 1920 and Reit- erates Its Position

Washington—(P)—The eighteenth amendment was sustained as valid today by the supreme court.

Under the decision the government will continue its efforts to enforce the Volstead law.

The ruling was handed down in the government's appeal from the decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, who held the amendment invalid because improperly ratified.

Judge Clark contended that to be valid the amendment should have been submitted to state conventions for ratification rather than to state legislatures. This view the court found untenable.

When William H. Sprague and William J. Hovey were brought to trial before Judge Clark on a charge of possessing and transporting 50 half barrels of beer, he quashed the indict out, holding the prohibition amendment invalid.

Judge Clark's Position
In an exhaustive opinion he took the position that as the eighteenth amendment attempted to transfer to the federal government jurisdiction over rights reserved to the people it should have been submitted to them in state conventions for ratification. He held that its ratification by state legislatures was insufficient to make it effective.

The government pleaded at once. The supreme court expedited the proceedings, hearing oral arguments in about a month, although counsel for the defendants sought approximately three months more time.

Contending the question raised by Judge Clark had already been before the supreme court in the national prohibition case, Solicitor General Thatcher in a brief argument declared the court had disposed of the controversy.

Julius Henry Cohen and Selden Bacon, counsel for the defendants, contended amendments granting new powers to the federal government over the people must be submitted to the people for approval.

But the eighteenth amendment proposed to transfer such power, it was invalid, they insisted, because it had been submitted to state legislatures for ratification instead of conventions.

Chief Justice Hughes withdrew from the case, stating he would take no part in its decision because he had filed a brief in a previous prohibition case, which, in his judgment, disqualified him from participating.

Question of Article V
The controversy turned on the interpretation of Article V of the constitution which provides that amendments shall be valid when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states "as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by congress."

Judge Clark held the language should be construed as modified by "principles of political science" and that such amendments could be constitutionally ratified only by conventions in the states.

The government contended the language of the article was clear and entirely free from ambiguity, and that there was no room for the construction adopted by Judge Clark. It insisted that no limitation had been placed on the exercise of congress in deciding which mode of ratification should be adopted.

The court's decision was unanimous.

Robertson declared by Justice Roberts before a crowded court room. He stated that congress was granted complete jurisdiction to decide the mode of ratification and that it had the right to refer the amendment to legislatures for ratification.

Roberts said that the contention had been made by attorneys upholding the Clark decision that the eighteenth amendment took power from the people which no other amendment did. He said that in the opinion of the court there were a number of amendments similar in connection with which the same point had been raised. Among them he named the thirteenth, fourteenth and nine-teenth.

In conclusion he said that in the national prohibition cases in 1920 the court had proclaimed the validity of the amendment and that it now reiterated the position it had taken then.

There was a brief flurry at the result of a stroke.

Nye Asks Inquiry Into Charges Of Bribe Paid U. S. Senator

FINDS NO BASIS FOR ACTION BUT FAVORS PROBE

Unnamed Senator Alleged to Have Been Paid by Sugar Company

Washington—(AP)—Investigation of published reports that a senator received between $100,000 and $150,000 from a sugar company while the tariff was being framed by congress was demanded in the senate today by Senators Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas.

Borah read to the senate a story press in a New York paper today declaring evidence has been placed before the lobby committee purporting to show the payments to an unnamed senator.

"No name is mentioned," Borah said, "but I am sure the senate would not want that to go uninvestigated and would wish the facts secured."

He said the lobby committee, of which he is a member, is authorized to make such an investigation. Robinson, Democratic leader, supported Borah's demand.

Washington—(AP)—A thorough investigation of charges that an unnamed senator received from $100,000 to $150,000 from a sugar company while the tariff was being framed by congress was demanded today by Chairman Nye of the senate campaign funds committee.

Nye said the charges had been called to the attention of his committee and the senate lobby committee, but that the campaign committee had found no basis for action. He said the charges and information received by his committee were turned over to Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee.

In a formal statement, Nye said it was "unfortunate" that the charges have been published.

"The Nye statement continued: 'In view of the absence of substantiating and conclusive evidence there ought to be no serious consideration of such stories.'

"From what contact I have had with the case in point I have had to conclude that the allegations were without merit and they will remain without merit in my mind until something more substantiating was afforded than has been afforded."

"The committee investigating campaign expenditures found no cause to proceed upon the basis of allegations made and after careful consideration closed its books to further consideration upon the subject. I fear a great injustice is being done the senator who is a party 'involved in the newspaper story.'

Asks "Thorough Sifting"

"In view of the fact that these stories have been so widely repeated I am sure a thorough sifting of the facts ought to be made to the end that no reflection be permitted to remain and lastingly reflect upon one who, in all probability is innocent of any wrongdoing in this connection."

"The allegations in this connection were called to the attention of both the lobby and campaign funds investigating committee."

"When the campaign investigating committee found no cause for action in its jurisdiction, I submitted to the chairman of the lobby committee a such allegations and facts as had been encountered, which allegations and facts in all probability do not add to the information that had been originally laid before the lobby committee."

"It would not surprise me if the lobby committee has found the allegations without merit and would report just as the campaign committee will report, that nothing was found reflecting upon the honor, honesty or integrity of the senator involved in the charges as these charges related to any subject under their jurisdiction."

Caraway refused to comment on the story.

NAME ZUEHLKE PRESIDENT OF PIONEER GROUP

Association Elects G. E. Buchanan Vice President at Annual Meeting

The days way back when were brought out on parade Monday at the fifty-ninth annual meeting of the Outagamie Pioneer association at Odd Fellow hall.

White-haired men, stooped with age, recalled the pioneer days of their childhood, and the younger members of the association commemorated the work of early Wisconsin pioneers.

William H. Zuehlke was elected president at the morning session. Other new officers are: G. E. Buchanan, vice president; Sarto S. Balliet, secretary and treasurer.

This group will have no official duties until the sixteenth annual meeting next Washington's birthday.

T. H. Ryan presided at the meeting in the afternoon with his assisting officers, Fred Harriman, secretary, Sarto S. Balliet, assistant secretary, The Rev. F. C. Reuter gave the prayer and benediction.

Stresses Early Work

In his welcoming address to the members, who came from all parts of Outagamie-co, Judge Ryan stressed the work that the early pioneers did. He pointed out that the pioneer work must go on through the present organization in the character of the original pioneer to create the honest patriotism, sobriety and religious life of these settlers.

The pioneer of today, he stated, has perhaps even a greater task than the one of yesterday in checking modern tendencies that are spoiling the civilization hard won by Wisconsin pioneer fathers.

Since Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and Judge Edgar V. Werner, the principal speakers were unable to appear, impromptu talks were in order. Gustave Keller acclaimed Washington and Lincoln, and said that the character of right thinking men should be reflected in their greatness.

He urged the members to remember the pioneers of the nation as well as those in Outagamie-co. Rev. Reuter commended the organization as "a child of thoughtfulness, gratitude and faithfulness," which is an attitude, he said, that is fast dying out in the modern world.

V. E. Smith read a paper presented by Fred E. Harriman, which lauded the work of John E. Harriman, a well known pioneer in Appleton. Volunteer talks were made by Malachi Ryan, Combined Locks, P. J. Harwood, Louis Wurl, W. M. Rohles, Joseph Koffend, Sr.

BLAZING AUTO MURDER TRIAL BEGUN TODAY

Similarity to British Slaying Arouses Great Interest in Indiana

Indianapolis—(AP)—After spending eight months in jail here, Harold Herbert Schroeder, Mobile, Ala., charged with killing an unidentified man, was prepared to face trial in criminal court this morning.

The case has aroused widespread interest especially since conclusion of a recent trial in England in which the evidence bore remarkable similarity to the charges against Schroeder.

Both men were traveling salesmen. Their automobiles were found blazing on lonely roads early in the morning, Schroeder's on last May 31, and that of Alfred Arthur Rouse on Nov. 6, 1930. In each car the charred body of a man was found. Both Schroeder and Rouse admitted they had given strangers a lift.

Throughout Rouse's trial, however, he maintained that the burning of his automobile was accidental. Schroeder has admitted that he set fire to his car and the stranger's body after the man's neck was broken in an accident.

In the English trial the prosecution asserted Rouse had wished the body to be identified as his, thus permitting him to disappear. Irregular love affairs, it was said, had plunged him into difficulties.

Prepared to Disappear

The prosecution contended that Schroeder, by leaving his coat and some insurance papers near his flame-swept automobile, sought to make it appear he had been burned to death. It also was revealed shortly before Schroeder's capture in Mobile that he had figured in a clandestine love affair in that city.

On Jan. 31 Rouse was sentenced to be hanged.

One hundred twenty-five persons have been summoned for possible jury service here. Irma M. Holmes is counsel for the defense and Prosecutor Herbert E. Wilson will handle the state's case. Judge Frank P. Baker, presiding, said he would appoint alienists, perhaps today to examine Schroeder. This was asked by the prosecution following the filing of a technical plea of insanity by the defense.

Schroeder's wife and two children, a brother and a sister were here to attend the trial. The defendant is described as in good spirits and physical condition despite his long confinement.

MORE INTEREST IS DISPLAYED IN CHURCHES

Increased Attendance at Services Probably Inspired by Lent

Increased interest in Sunday morning worship, probably inspired by the Lenten season, was apparent in Appleton Sunday morning, when most preachers talked to unusually large congregations.

The Rev. Ernest J. Boerger of Fort Wayne, Ind., preached at the two special services at Zion church Sunday morning commemorating the twenty-eighth anniversary of the dedication of Zion Lutheran church. His subject at the English service at 9 o'clock was The Glory of Zion, or the house of God, and in the German sermon at 10:35 he emphasized the use of the word of God in all services. The English Lenten service will be held at 7:45 Wednesday evening, and the German Lenten service at the same time Thursday evening. An English confessional and Communion service will be held at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

An astronomical address, Other Worlds than Ours, was given by R. C. Blackmun at the Methodist vespers service Sunday afternoon. Next Sunday Adeline Wright McCauley, internationally known for her work in Fidae and the American Legion Auxiliary, will give the program. The annual Lenten dinner sponsored by the Social Union will be held Friday evening. Dr. J. A. Holmes preached on the text, "once I was blind but now I can see" at the Methodist church Sunday morning, saying that before one has had a Christian experience one is blind to the truth of life.

Solemn Processional

A solemn processional with the American flag carried in honor of George Washington's birthday opened the service at All Saints Episcopal church Sunday morning. Dr. L. D. Utis, after prefacing his sermon with tributes to Lincoln, Washington, Jackson and other great Americans, talked on the Biblical story concerning the promise made to each other by Jonathan and David. Dr. Utis will be the guest preacher at the Lenten services at the Fond du Lac cathedral Wednesday evening. The Rev. William Hood of Manitowoc will preach at the Lenten service here Thursday evening. "Your Comfort — Our Pride"

"Wanted Men Must be under 35"

In every city, day after day endlessly the want advertisements are saying — "Men wanted... must be under 35." Why this tragic challenge to older, wiser men? We know. You know that at 35 the average man is beginning to slip physically — to lose that vital, physical force, that buoyant enthusiasm, that firm step, which puts ideas across. Youth no longer overwhelms unwise shoes and faulty fitting, short sleep and slighted exercise at 35.

Americas workers wasted $100,000,000 last year due to impaired efficiency and lowered production capacity caused by faulty shoes and misfitting of the feet, as proved by a scientific investigation.

Long ago the Indian discovered he must have full support for a foot and he walked in the sand, the mud, and the snow with flexible moccasins on his feet. Civilization has put a heel on shoes and a raised back and put a shaped arch to the sole to give support while we walk on floors or sidewalks and hard surfaces. The heel makes it more essential than ever that we get full length support, but scientific research has found that scarcely one in twenty get the arches of the shoes functioning with the arches of the foot and consequently use more energy carrying our weight around on our muscles and ligaments — (which our shoes should be made and fitted to carry) — than our daily toil consumes. Thousands from this section of Wisconsin are discovering that at Dame's there are shoes and scientific fitting with almost magic power to ease away the troubles of abused, tired and aching feet — sending men over 35 to work to win, flashing with day long energy and enthusiasm.

Wickersham Report On County Is "Absurd", Officials Claim

NEVER DENIED ASSISTANCE TO FEDERAL AGENTS

Sheriff Lappen Says He Provided Assistance Only Time He Was Asked

A sweeping denial of the allegations made by Frank Buckley, an investigator for the Wickersham commission, was issued this morning by Sheriff John Lappen, District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl and Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

Buckley claimed Appleton and the county are extremely wet, and that the sheriff's and district attorney's departments refused their cooperation to the federal agents. He charged that Appleton and the county supplies alcohol for the entire state, as well as Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Charges of failure to lend cooperation were branded as false by both the district attorney and the sheriff. They also declared that Mr. Buckley's statement that the county is supplying alcohol to other states was "ridiculous and absurd."

Officers Cooperation
"I absolutely deny that I ever refused the cooperation of any one to the federal prohibition officers when they requested it," declared Sheriff John Lappen this morning. "Only once since I took office have I been asked by the dry squads to furnish them with assistance, and on that occasion I appointed two of my deputies to assist the dry squads, while the heavy work in my own office was neglected."

"I do not feel, with the small force of officers which I am permitted to keep, that I can devote any of the department's time to the enforcement of a federal dry law. I do believe this is the duty of a sheriff, anyway. But that is beside the point, because there is so much work for myself and my small staff of assistants, that we have no time to be looking over the county for stills."

"As for the charge that Outagamie and Appleton are supplying Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas with alcohol, I think it is absurd. It would be necessary for every farmer in the county to operate a still in order to produce enough alcohol to furnish a supply for these states. Common sense proves that this is a ridiculous statement."

Never Saw Buckley
"I do not know this man Buckley, who is alleged to have investigated conditions here. He never called at my office or never talked to any of my officers. Where he secured his information is a mystery to me. It has been said this investigation was made before I took office. If so, of course, the report does not have anything to do with my department."

"The charge that the county attorney was unwilling to cooperate with the federal agencies in entirely unjust and unwarranted," said Mr. Staidl. "There is no basis for this criticism. No federal authority ever called at my office requesting cooperation. On what grounds, then, can such a statement be made?"

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., expressed surprise at the proportions of the rumor, made as painted by the federal inspectors. Regarding the comment concerning the cooperation of the chief of police and the lack of cooperation on the part of the sheriff's office he questioned the unprejudiced judgment of Mr. Buckley, saying: "his contact with one officer may have produced an impression that would inspire him to defend him, while his conference with the other may have resulted in a desire to be unfavorable toward him in his report."

CATLIN TELLS LIONS ABOUT FLOWER HOBBY
The evolution of plant life and its relation to human life was described in an address by Mark Catlin at the weekly dinner of the Lions club at Conway hotel Monday afternoon.

Mr. Catlin, whose hobby is flower gardening, told how it is possible to change the appearances of flowers by change of environment and by crossing several species.

He explained the methods of handling various species of plants, the effect of seasons, and other factors which tend to change the evolution of plant life.

A business meeting preceded the address.

TREAT CHILD FOR PNEUMONIA; FIND PEANUT IN LUNG

A peanut lodged in the right lung of Robert Tostel, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tostel, route 4, Appleton, baffled physicians for four days.

Two doctors were unanimous in declaring the child had pneumonia because of the peculiar noises in the lung, and for four days the case was treated accordingly.

The child steadily grew worse, until Mrs. Tostel as a final resort applied hot poultices to the lung. Shortly after the second poultice had been applied the youngster started coughing, and the peanut became dislodged and was coughed up.

State utility corporations may be formed which would issue unlimited obligations.

The roll call on the measure follows:

Ayes—Anderson, Carroll, Cashman, Clifford, Duncan, Foss, Gettelman, Hunt, Koppel, Loomis, Miller, Olson, Polakowski, Roberts, Rush, Severson and Zantow.
Noes—Baker, Blanchard, Boldt, Daggett, Edwards, Fellenz, Goodland, Hall, Mehigan, Morris, Mueller, Roethlis, Shearer and White.

For the first time this session, the senate was placed under a call, requested by Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee. The call was in effect less than an hour, being removed on the motion of Sen. George Blanchard, Edgerton. Sen. Gettelman moved for the call to prevent a vote on a bill calling for the repeal of the reciprocity feature of the inheritance tax law.

The bill introduced by Sen. Herman Severson, Iowa, was finally sent to the joint committee on finance and the call was lifted. The measure proposes to repeal that part of the inheritance tax law which provides that the state shall not tax intangible estates of non-resident decedents if there is a reciprocity agreement with the state in which the decedent resided.

A bill by Sen. Walter Rush, Neillville, which will give the tax commission the right to go back six years in the determination of back income taxes, was introduced and sent to the joint finance committee. An amendment by Sen. William Edwards, Sussex, providing that after 1933 the commission go back only four years was adopted.

The senate killed a bill by Sen. Otto Mueller, Wausau, which would permit the investment of trust funds in building and loan association notes.

The senate passed the following measures and messages them to the assembly:

By Duncan—A joint resolution to correct the law relating to a court impeachment. Vote, 24 to 8.

By Severson—A bill placing all contempt proceedings under a jury and requiring a unanimous verdict for conviction for contempt brought for violation of restraining orders or injunctions. Vote, 26 to 6.

Japan Is Modern Country With Many Western Ideas

The average tourist going to Japan expects to see quaint people following unusual customs. Instead, he sees people who do many things in much the same fashion as westerners. W. S. Ryan, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., told the Appleton Hi-Y club at a joint meet of the chapters last night.

Mr. Ryan served as a physical director in Japan for 12 years. The first six years were spent at Tokyo and Yokohama. His last six years were at Kobe and Osaka.

"Japanese city streets are practically all paved," Mr. Ryan said. "They now have many modernly constructed, large buildings. Automobiles are quite common and the rickshaw is used only by the tourist and wealthy class of people because the average person can better afford to use taxi cabs."

"The fact that for many years it took five or six weeks to travel to Japan has left an impression that it is a distant country. Now, however, one can arrive in Japan ten days after leaving Seattle and messages may be sent to the distant islands in a few hours. These two features have brought the islands much closer to America and the western continent and have resulted in a better knowledge of the country, a knowledge that brings the Japanese into the realm of other American neighbors."

Kimono Discarded
The Japanese business man has long discarded his kimono. He now dresses like westerners in American cut business suits, and conducts his business after the latest American method.

Many people still live in old style Japanese houses, but that is because they are cheap. The straw floors, movable doors, and windows made of paper instead of glass, cost very little and satisfy most of the Japanese. Advent of electricity reduced the fire hazard of the old style homes with their candles, and now most homes have electric lights for illumination. That electricity is generally used in Japan is indicated by the modern electric railway from Tokyo to Yokohama.

In speaking of Japanese homes, Mr. Ryan said the custom of taking one's shoes off when entering still is observed. That is because the floors in Japanese homes are the chairs, the beds and the tables and therefore must be kept immaculately clean.

American youths may complain about the work they have in school, especially memorizing various works, or American youngsters may complain about the 26 letters in the alphabet, but they should think of the Japanese youth. He must learn something like 3,000 characters before he is able to read a newspaper.

Must Learn Characters
Japanese youths receiving a college or high school education must necessarily know many more characters, all of them being memorized. One of the peculiar things about Japanese characters is they are the same as Chinese characters. And while a Japanese can write a note to a Chinaman and the Chinaman can write the Japanese they cannot speak to each other. The pronunciation and inflection in Japan causes the difference.

Athletically the Japanese used to indulge in individual sports, wrestling, archery and fencing. Now they have taken to team games and baseball is their national sport. They also have become interested in swimming, track and field events, basketball, football and tennis. In a few years many Japs will be strong contenders for Olympic honors, Mr. Ryan believes.

MEXICAN PEASANTS WHIP FRUIT TREES FOR BETTER CROPS

Texcoco, Mexico—(P)—Fruit trees of the nearby Huexotla region which bore a poor crop this year were subjected today to a severe lashing, with the admonishment that they do better next season.

The peasants of the region believe that the trees require chastising when they do not bear well and they make the occasion motive for gay festivities.

After a series of native dances and other formalities, a score of the best physical specimens of the tribal manhood administered 10 lashes each to upwards of 10 trees, using leather straps especially made for the ceremony. The whipping takes place at exactly 10 o'clock A. M.

EXTORTION CASE HEARING IS SET

Peter Drall, Jr., Is Held in County Jail Under Bonds of $1,000

Peter Drall, Jr., 1009 W. Lorraine-st, was arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge Theodore Berg on a charge of attempted extortion, and preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow. Drall was unable to furnish bonds of $1,000 and he is being held in the county jail. Charges against Drall were made by Louis Lesselyoung, manager of a newspaper agency at 111 N. Morrison-st. Lesselyoung claims Drall came to his office last Friday and ordered him to pay $500 in cash before 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Drall appeared at the appointed time and gave Lesselyoung a check for $250, according to Police Chief George T. Prim. Drall was arrested as he left the agency.

COMMISSION TO SEEK BIDS ON NEW BRIDGE
Word has been received by Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, that advertisements calling for bids on the new Lavest bridge to be constructed at Kaukauna this summer, will appear in the Western Builder on Thursday, Feb. 26 and on March 5. The letter received by Mr. Appleton did not state when the final date for accepting bids would be.

The bridge at Kaukauna is being paid for jointly by the county and state. Kaukauna is paying $40,000; the county $60,000; and the state the balance. Highway 55 crosses this bridge.

PAVED ROADS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION
All paved roads throughout the state are in good condition, according to a report received at the county highway office from the county highway department. Unpaved roads are reported rough in some places and there are some instances where surfaces are muddy as a result of the warm weather melting small banks of snow. On the whole, however, roads are said to be in better condition for this time of year than in many previous years.

CLARK DECISION OVER- RULED BY SUPREME COURT

conclusion of his decision as a few listeners hurried to the doors but this subsided quickly, and Justice Roberts proceeded to the delivery of another opinion.

Justice Roberts reviewed in detail the arguments in favor of and against the validity of the amendment.

He said the language of Article V of the Constitution was not ambiguous, as was contended by opponents at the amendments, adding it clearly gave congress the liberty to decide whether constitutional amendments should be submitted to state legislatures or state conventions.

Justice Roberts said congress was not restrained in the exercise of its discretion adding that ratification by state legislatures was valid.

NATURE OF CLARK RULING

Newark, N. J.—(P)—The decision of Federal Judge William Clark, holding ratification of the eighteenth amendment to have been illegal, was handed down here Dec. 16, 1930, in the case of William Sprague with transporting beer, was Sussex-co. An indictment, charging Sprague with transporting beer, was quashed by it.

Judge Clark held that state legislatures could not grant to the federal government powers that limited the rights of the people. He declared the people themselves, on constitutional convention, must pass an amendment such as the eighteenth.

The judge pointed out that the eighteenth amendment "contains a grant of power to regulate and prohibition certain acts," whereas the twelfth and seventeenth amendments affect the machinery of government by varying the methods of electing the president and United States senators; the eleventh and sixteenth made certain changes in the federal and taxing powers of the federal government; the ninth and tenth were concerned with the reservation of rights and powers, and the first eight and the fourteenth, fifteenth and nineteenth amendments contained limitations upon the power of the United States or of the states.

Referring to the thirteenth, contained certain points of resemblance to the eighteenth but was distinguishable because it strikes down the enslavement of human beings and operates directly upon the property laws of any states permitting that institution.

Article V of the constitution, pertaining to amendment procedure, specified that legislatures of two-thirds of the several states shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which shall become valid when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof. Amendment 10, which modified Article V, read in part: "Powers not delegated, reserved to states and people respectively." "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the state respectively or to the people."

CLARK IS SILENT
Newark, N. J.—(P)—Federal Judge William Clark refused today to comment on his decision of the supreme court reversing his opinion on the eighteenth amendment.

NO ILL EFFECTS
Washington—(P)—Prohibition Director Woodcock said today the ill effects upon enforcement he had feared might develop from Judge Clark's decision declaring the eighteenth amendment invalid, apparently had not materialized.

"I have seen no slackening of enforcement due to the decision," Woodcock said, "nor have I received any reports of a let-down due to it."

The prohibition director went to the supreme court to listen to the decision.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO DISCUSS PAVING
The paving of S. Oneida-st and South River-st recommended by the common council at its last meeting, will be discussed by the property owners on these two streets at a meeting at McKinley school at 7:30 Tuesday evening. The meeting, called by the two aldermen, will be addressed by Mayor John Goodland Jr., R. P. McGillion and C. J. Wasenberg. Petitions for and against the two paving projects will be circulated.

The Wisconsin Michigan Power company has agreed to pay for 14 feet of the S. Oneida-st pavement, and the county has appropriated $20,000 for the paving of South River-st.

DRAW JURY TO TRY KAUKAUNA YOUTHS
A jury was being drawn in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning for the trial of Gordon Frank and Oliver Benar, Kaukauna youths, charged with entering the Cities Service filling station on Draper-st, in Kaukauna, and stealing about $37 worth of cigars, candy and tobacco. They were arrested by Kaukauna police following an investigation after the theft. Trial of the pair is scheduled for Friday.

Chicago Casts Heavy Vote, Little Disorder At Polls

aimed charges of "Thompsonism" against both the mayor and the judge, insisting that the victory would be his if the voters decided the question "on the record and reputation of the candidates."

Large Force on Guard
It was one of the hottest campaigns in Chicago's history. A force of some 70,000 persons, including American legion members, special policemen, judges of election and others, was on duty to prevent ballot stealing, and other violations of the law, from the opening of the polls at 6 o'clock a. m. until they closed at 5 o'clock p. m.

Anton J. Cermak, the Democratic candidate, was without organized opposition, while the Republicans were hurling political brickbats at one another. Egg throwing, heckling, talk about the alleged influence of Alphonse Capone, the gang chief, and pictures of Judge Lyle waving machine guns and Mayor Thompson's circus parade depicting Lyle and Albert on donkeys, were still fresh in the minds of the voters as they proceeded with the balloting.

Shaking machine guns to illustrate his point, Judge Lyle told his audiences that "the men who use these" were for Thompson, while the mayor countered with statements that the judge was "nutty" and that Chicago is no worse under his regime than any of the other cities. In fact, he said, it was better than many others. Thompson sued Lyle and the Chicago Daily News for $100,000 because they said his flood relief funds were misappropriated. Lyle filed suit for a similar sum against an Albert supporter who inferred the judge was connected with a burlesque theatre.

Capone Eludes Police
Capone charged by Judge Lyle with giving financial help to Thompson, was sought by police on a vagrancy charge, but was as elusive as ever. Judge Frank M. Padden ordered the hunt for the gangster chief after advising Patrick Roche, investigator for the state's attorney that "many candidates have complained that Capone is in the city to aid their opponents."

The judge waited all day yesterday for the officers to bring Capone in and promised a special court session for him if he is arrested. Capone is scheduled to appear in federal court tomorrow on a citation for contempt for failure to come in for questioning on his income tax.

The election will be held April 7 and the winner will be in office for four years, including the time of the world's fair which will be held in 1932.

In addition to nominating the majority candidates the voters elected alderman and passed on city, county, sanitary and park district bond issues totaling $54,000,000. The total registration was 1,340,566. Officials estimated about 700,000 as the number voting. Fair weather prevailed.

PAIR PLEADS GUILTY OF STEALING RINGS AT JEWELRY STORE
Sentence of Kaukauna Men Is Deferred Until Tomorrow

Edward Knox, 314 Wisconsin-ave, Kaukauna, and Joseph Sturm, 28, 215 Depot-st, Kaukauna, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning before Judge Theodore Berg of larceny. Their attorney made a plea for probation for the pair. District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl recommended a probation for Knox, but said nothing about Sturm. Judge Berg deferred sentence until Wednesday morning.

The pair is charged with stealing two diamond rings from the Pitz and Treiber jewelry store. Insurance-bonds, several weeks ago. After an investigation the two were arrested by Kaukauna police on suspicion. They were held after being identified by J. B. Pitz as the two men who fled from the store when he missed two rings, and accused them of taking them.

Two men entered the store at noon and asked to look at rings. When the jeweler turned away, two of the rings already on display disappeared. The jeweler accused the men of taking them. Uttering threats, the pair fled and disappeared before Pitz could reach the street. The rings were valued at $100 and $60.

250 AT HEARING ON FIXING LAKE LEVEL
Expect Decision from Washington in Three or Four Weeks

With about 250 persons in attendance, the hearing on maintaining the level of Lake Winnebago at 213 inches above the crest of the Menasha dam was started this afternoon in the Memorial building at Menasha. Every city from Fond du Lac to Green Bay is represented and Major W. M. Hippi of the war department is presiding.

At conferences of the groups seeking levels of 15 and 213 inches above the dam it was agreed that George Williams, Oshkosh attorney, would present the evidence for the 15 inch group and J. P. Frank and T. H. Ryan will represent those wishing an increase to 213 inches. Major Tripp said the evidence would be sent to Washington and a decision is expected in three weeks or a month.

HOLD HEARINGS IN 3 WORKMEN'S CASES
Testimony was taken in three cases before P. G. Knutson, a commissioner for the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, at a hearing at the city hall this morning. The hearings, which are ordinarily held at the courthouse, were transferred to the city hall because of a lack of room at the county building. The case of Lyle Jackels, deceased, against the Post Publishing company, was continued.

Maurice H. Vogt asked compensation from the Elmer Brothers Construction company, claiming he fractured a leg while working for the firm. Elmer J. Berg, route 2, Hortonville, asked compensation for a hernia which he claims was sustained while he was employed by the Fox Valley Canning company. James Mallet, Clintonville, asked compensation for an injury to his knee, which he claims was sustained while he was employed by the Clintonville Four Wheel Drive company.

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE

FOUR-DAY RAIN ENDS DROUGHT IN SOUTHWEST

Precipitation Worth $5-000,000, According to Early Estimates

BY THURBER CUSHING
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Phoenix, Ariz.—(CPA)—It rained
gold in the southwest last week.
Gold and heatstroke, tan chops and suits of clothes, electricity and that cheerful feeling of prosperity. As a result of four days of drought-breaking rain, Arizona put almost half a million dollars in cold cash in the bank and figured other direct, tangible benefits that may run close to $5,000,000 in real money.

New Mexico, Colorado and Nevada, which also had been short of rain for a long time, figured proportionate net profit from the downpour. California hadn't been lacking moisture for agriculture, but will cash in on the golden flood from extra hydroelectric power.

The intangible but very real value to the general business community of the comfortable feeling of money in the bank is anybody's guess. After eight months of less than normal rainfall in Arizona, this storm broke all records for ten years back—four inches in four days was the average for Phoenix and its irrigation basin.
Water behind a dam is just as good as money in the bank in this part of the world.

Helps Livestock
Livestock and electric power are the first mediums through which the southwest will realize the gold out of its rain. Later the dry farmers of these inland states will find their bankers smiling at them, as the crops yet to be planted make use of the water just fallen. Farmers on irrigated land had to be satisfied with a cash profit from the hydroelectric power, for they mostly have enough water for their purposes regardless.

The Arizona cattle growers' association and the sheep growers' association that last week's rain will mean nearly $2,000,000 extra. In beef, mutton and wool to Arizona alone, conditional only upon normal rainfall to follow through the summer. The other range states should benefit proportionately from the sprouting grass and the filled water holes due to the downpour.

Owners of irrigated land in the Phoenix district already have rung up $480,000 on the cash register from this rain, and they figure assured or possible tangible benefits running up to $2,645,000.

The Salt River valley project, which makes Phoenix and its environments a blooming oasis in the desert and which with its Roosevelt dam—far higher than Niagara—and three other dams is one of the world's most successful irrigation projects, requires annual operating assessments
from its farmer-owners. The rain, storing extra electric power behind the dams, has already caused the cancellation of the $2-per-acre assessment due this spring on the 240,000 acres, or $480,000 net. Similar figuring applies to Roosevelt reservoir and Carl P. Sargent reservoir.

DECREASE NOTED IN PRICES OF PRODUCE

Wholesale Rates of Dairy Products Cut During January

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wholesale prices of farm products as a group and of foods, particularly butter, cheese and milk, were lower in January than in December, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor.
Farm products as a group decreased 24 per cent from the December
level, due to lower prices for milk, corn, oats, rye, wheat, beef cattle
eggs, hay and wool.

Milk averaged somewhat lower than in December but the decrease was not particularly great.

Foods were two per cent lower than in December with considerable declines in butter and cheese. Butter and eggs were both at lower levels in January than at any time since pre-war days.

Considering the 1926 average as 100 per cent, price of butter, cheese and milk in January 1931 averaged 85.2 per cent compared with 83.4 the month of December, 1930, and 97.5 a year ago in January, 1930. For butter, cheese and milk in January 1931, the purchasing power of the dollar is estimated as $1.174.

Retail prices of dairy products also declined during the month from Dec.
15 to Jan. 15. Prices of butter were down 11 per cent; cheese, 4 per cent;
and milk, one per cent. Oeomargarine prices went down 4 per cent.

WOULD OMIT "DULL" FROM VOCABULARY

Detroit—(CP)—E. W. Butterfield, Connecticut's commissioner of education, would throw the word "dull"
out of the school vocabulary.
"Dull is a convention school term,"
he told the convention of the department of superintendents of the National Education association Monday.
"No child is 'dull' until he enters kindergarten. No adult is 'dull' after he graduates from the university."
The trouble, he said, is that schools of the formal type measure the child
by his mental test to only one of his "dimensions" and because he happens to be "school dull" fail to see how "bright" he is in other ways.
"All who reach the school door," he said, "are bright boys and girls, bright in social values or bright in manual skills, or bright in the knowledge of art and the production of beauty, or bright in the ability to bear silently and without complaint
the great burdens of life, or they may be school bright alone."

Inventor Of Milk Test Filmed By Department

Madison, Wis.—(CP)—Dr. Stephen Moulton Babcock, 57-year-old, scientist, who gave the world the Babcock milk test along with a five-word statement, "This test is not patented," when he could have lined his pockets with millions of dollars, recorded his discovery for posterity late last week. He appeared in the first talking picture ever to be made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Facing the camera in an improvised studio in the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture dairy building annex, Dr. Babcock, active and intent despite his age, re-enacted his memorable work, while thoroughly enjoying the novelty of being a motion picture actor.

The film, which will be released
through the department of agriculture for educational purposes, commemorates the fortieth anniversary of the discovery. The milk test has put millions of dollars into the pockets of dairymen by saving the loss of butter fat in the process of separating the cream. Its supreme value, however, lies in the fact that it provides data for improving dairy stock by indicating which animals should be weaned out and which should be used for breeding.
Instead of claiming the millions the discovery would have netted him,
Dr. Babcock unassumingly announced: "The test is not patented."

C. E. Lindstrom and F. E. Denham, both of the division of motion pictures, Washington, directed the story Saturday, assisted by Prof. Andrew W. Hopkins, Wisconsin college of agriculture. They worked in a student laboratory. A section of which was hung with canvas curtains. Dr. Babcock was an eager performer and he rehearsed the scene
before they were filmed, and entertained the technicians with frequent witty remarks.

An actual incident was the basis of the plot. Recently a teacher in the university high school here pointed Dr. Babcock, who was entering a building across the street, to her class.

"There goes a great man," she said, and pressed by her pupils, she told the story of the milk test.

This was filmed Saturday, and
Dr. Babcock then was "introduced."
He showed his apparatus and was accorded honor from O. E. Reed, chief of the bureau of dairies, United States Department of Agriculture, who read a letter by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, praising his discovery. Harry L.
Russell, recently resigned dean of the college of agriculture, and Charles L. Hill, Rosendale, Wis., president of the National Dairy association, and a state commissioner of agriculture, and markets, were filmed with Dr. Babcock during Mr.
Reed's tribute.

When the show was over, Dr. Babcock asked to have the talking picture apparatus explained to him, and asked questions of Orlando R.
Marsh, Chicago, technician, concerning the process of picking up and amplifying sounds in synchronization with the picture taking.

Mr. Lindstrom and Mr. Reed both expressed the opinion that the federal department will take other talking pictures if the one produced today is successful.

INDIAN "ATTORNEYS" BILL SENT TO HOOVER

Washington—(AP)—The house today agreed on senate amendments to a bill allowing Menominee Indians in Wisconsin to employ general attorneys to handle claim cases.
The bill now goes to the president.
Under the bill the secretary of the interior would be allowed to permit withdrawal of $20,000 from the tribal funds of the Menominees to pay for the attorneys, not more than $5-000 to go to any one lawyer.

MILL EMPLOYMENT ON DECLINE; WAGES CUT 6.5 PER CENT

Factory Workers Have Lowest Average Per Capita
Since 1922

Madison—(AP)—Manufacturing employment in the state declined 1.8 per cent, while corresponding pay-rolls were reduced 6.5 per cent between December 15, 1930 and January 15 of this year, the monthly survey of the industrial commission shows.

The report states that in January factory workers had the lowest average per capita earnings since January 1922. Of the thirty principal cities of the state, Beloit, Janesville, Kenosha and Racine gained in both manufacturing employment and pay-rolls. There were declines in all sections of the state excepting the north and northeastern districts.

Placements by public employment offices were reduced one-third during January as compared with the same month a year ago, according to the survey. Working hours in factories have declined from an average of 51.5 hours per week in January, 1929, to 49.1 hours in January, 1931. The commission points out that during the past month there were 21.2 per cent fewer employees on factory payrolls than in the pre-depression month of April, 1929, and the decrease by 43.8 per cent of corresponding factory payrolls.

The extent and the degree of unemployment and under-employment is shown by payroll reports, which indicate the number of hours worked per week, the number of days worked per week, and the aggregate number of hours worked by all employees
during the period of the payrolls reported. Employers in individual industries maintain widely different schedules of hours per day and per week, the commission advises. Out of forty-five foundries and machine shops eight plants operate four days,
one plant operates four and one-half days, fifteen plants operate five days,
nine plants operate five and one-half days and four plants operate six days per week, the report states.

The record in forty-four machinery manufacturing plants follows:
three plants operate three days per week, seven plants operate four days, seven plants operate five days, twenty-four plants operate five and one-

Your Birthday

"FISCES"

If February 25th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Astrological influences on February 25th will be inspirational, and it would be wise to follow your own intuition, rather than to regard the advice of others. Do not be timid! The plunger will meet with success. The frame of mind will be combative and headstrong,
and you should be able to break through difficulties which have hitherto hindered you.

The child born on this February 25th will have an adaptable nature, pleasing manners, and friendly ways. It will have an optimistic outlook upon life, and there is a bright future in store for it. It will love adventure, and have considerable courage, mentally and physically.

Indecisiveness is the keynote of your nature, and you are always undecided how to act, and always waiting for an opportunity. You are hampered with an over-abundance of self-esteem and approbativeness, which makes it difficult for you to admit your failings.
Fishes has been called the sign of "self-undoing," and it may be said that your life will be symbolical of this sign of the Zodiac. It is your ent situation, with regard to hours

own nature, and not outside influences, which handicaps your progress.

Possessing very strong emotions,
you become much attached to your friends, and you are always ready to accept their advice and opinion, and to act upon it whenever possible. You love to live in a world of romance, and are fond of sensational reading, the "movies," and light conversation. You are very hospitable, and endeavor to make others comfortable and happy. Like most Pisceans, you are a good traveler—new faces and new places make an appeal to you.
You like to taste the good things
of life, and you have a capital idea of enjoying yourself.

You have a generous disposition,
and you dislike to hurt others. You are slow to anger and hard to appease. It is not likely that you will stick to any one pursuit long enough to become master of any trade or business. Discontent will mar the serenity of your home life, although you will experience periods of happiness.

It Is Said--

That sometimes the barbers, who are listed as great story tellers, are beaten at their own game. At least there is one Appleton barber still chuckling over an incident which occurred recently at his shop. Little Margaret Lally, who is but 7 years old, was submitting to the "torture" of sitting through a haircut. At least it is torture when a youngster is that age. Finally, anxious to stir conversation, Margaret offered to tell a story. Here it is:
"Once there was a five dollar gold piece and a penny. They were talking about different things and the gold piece said to the penny:
"I'm better than you are."
"And the penny answered:
"You may be better but I go to church oftener."

That most of Hortonville became violently excited recently over an Appleton shoe store sign querying
"Does your feet hurt?" The respective merits of does or do your feet hurt were discussed over restaurant tables, on street corners, and at parties, until someone wrote to the University of Wisconsin English department. "Is said that the learned one decreed "Does your feet hurt"
is correct.

That a robin is the first sign of spring, but the group of youngsters shooting megs on the sidewalk on College-ave at 8:30 Monday night was a much better indication. Winter-healed knuckles, super-scrubbed hands, and pressed trousers took a mighty drubbing, but nevertheless the game drew half the young males
in the west end.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.
For these purposes, here is a homemade medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex.
Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.
This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex.
It is guaranteed to give prompt relief
or money refunded.

COOPERATIVE MARKETING

Dairy farmers of Outagamie county apparently are coming to a realization that the only way they can obtain an adequate return on their investment and labor is through cooperative marketing of their product. They are organizing a branch of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative for the purpose of weighing, testing and selling the milk produced on their farms.

Cooperative marketing has been a long time in reaching the dairy farmers of this territory, in spite of the success that has attended ventures of this nature in other parts of the country.
Cheese producers have been organized as a cooperative for many years and the Land O' Lakes Creameries is one of the most successful and best known cooperative organizations in the country.

The success of cooperative marketing, in which every grower affiliated with the organization is determined to adhere to the principles of cooperation, is forcibly illustrated by Door County fruit growers. Prior to organization the fruit growers were completely at the mercy of the buyers, and growers had the alternative of selling their crops at prices that did not pay for handling or permitting the fruit to spoil on the trees. As a cooperative, these same growers have set up a marketing organization that assures a fair profit to the producers without at the same time increasing the cost to the consumer.

The Tobacco pool in the southern part of the state and the cranberry growers in the Wisconsin river valley
have had substantially the same experience. In the Wisconsin river valley the cranberry growers find it profitable to pay their marketing expert a salary comparable with that paid the executives of the biggest industrial institutions to sell their crops.

There is a vast amount of evidence that cooperative marketing is not merely an expedient to artificially fix prices
at a time of market depression but that it is a sound economic principle. It is designed to remove the competition that exists between individual producers and enables them to pool their products so that they can be sold at a time and under such terms as will assure the largest return to the producers.

Experience has proved, however, that these cooperatives are successful only to the extent that their members heartily embrace the principles of cooperative action. There is little chance for success if individual members will dispose of their products in individual sales that at the time of sale appear to offer advantages over cooperative marketing. It requires a certain amount of fortitude to withstand the blandishments of designing buyers intent upon wrecking the cooperative effort and, in the last analysis, farmers will benefit from their united action only to the extent that they remain united.

The farmer, like every other businessman, is entitled to an opportunity for a fair return on his investment and for his labor and if cooperative marketing will assure this for him it should be encouraged. Appleton, situated in the heart of the farming and dairying community and largely dependent upon it for its prosperity, is intensely interested in anything that has promise of improving the position of the farmer. Effort expended toward encouraging cooperative marketing of farm products will be returned to the city in the way of increased business.

act. This act—an emergency war measure—is still a law, although inoperative except for a section which gives the postoffice department the power to exclude from the mails any matter it considers seditious. Senator Walsh of Montana has introduced a repealer,
which the senate has passed; but the extreme congestion of the house calendar makes it probable that the repealer
will simply die of neglect.

THE BONUS LOAN BILL

The veterans loan bill, which would permit 3,400,000 ex-service men holding adjusted compensation certificates to borrow from the government an average of $500 each at 4 1/2 per cent interest, has been passed by congress and is now on President Hoover's desk for his signature or veto. The president is expected to disapprove the measure, but it seems a foregone conclusion that the house and senate will pass the bill over his veto, as both houses approved it by better than a four to one vote.

The loan bill should be signed by the president; many ex-service men need immediate aid and there should be no further delay as will be the case
if the measure goes back to congress.
The government can float the necessary bonds, between a half billion and a billion dollars, to take care of the loans with very little, if any, difficulty.
Many financial experts are of this opinion so there should be no hesitation in carrying out the provisions of the bill, particularly when it is almost a certainty that at the most but 75 per cent of the veterans will seek loans.
Some experts of the veterans bureau estimate that only 50 per cent will ask aid, but even if three out of four do need this money the maximum required to meet their requests would be about $750,000,000.

The veterans bureau, it is reported,
is expected to launch an educational campaign pointing out to ex-service men that if they do not really need the loans they ought not to apply. This is a meritorious plan and should be carried out. If a world war soldier or sailor does not need assistance he will be far better off if he waits until the certificates mature, for, by that time
he may have real need of the money.
At present 85 per cent of the veterans
are at the peak of their earning power, or soon will be, and it would be a wise policy not to borrow now, but rather wait and collect a sizable sum in 1945.

Certainly, few people diminish the ultimate benefits of any insurance policy by borrowing on its cash value unless absolutely compelled to do so by financial necessity. The bonus certificates should be treated the same way,
for it has been the experience of insurance companies that only a very few who borrow on their policies ever pay
the money back, not even the interest, which, left to compound, amounts to a large sum over a period of years and greatly reduces the value of the policy
when it is eventually paid.

The 50 per cent loan bill is a compromise between those who were opposed to any dis-arrangement of the present bonus plan and those who favored paying it outright now. For that reason, President Hoover should sign the measure at once and order the treasury department to begin making loans to needy veterans as soon as possible. After all the 50 per cent loan plan is no great concession on the part of the government. Under the provisions of the bonus law the amount that may be borrowed is automatically increased each year so that it would be only about six years until the ex-service men could borrow that much on their certificates, if they wanted it.

WINSLOW HOMER'S BIRTH
On Feb. 24, 1856, Winslow Homer, famous American marine painter, one of the foremost and most typical of his school, was born in Boston.
At 19 he entered a lithographer's shop and after two years worked independently as an illustrator. In 1879 he went to New York where, while supporting himself, he attended the National Academy of Design.
On the outbreak of the Civil War he went to the front as a special war correspondent and artist for Harper's weekly, for which he worked after the war.
In 1880, after he had exhibited his paintings
in Europe, Homer turned his attention to marine painting. Four years later began his notable career as leading American painter of the ocean and the seafaring folk.
The City of Washington was planned by Charles Pierre L'Enfant, a major of the French army. Major L'Enfant was well known to President Washington, and was commissioned to lay

WE HEARD about the guy who wears

he wanted to commit suicide, so he cut his throat and then jumped out of a hotel window in Milwaukee. . . he should have swallowed a handful of ground glass and a bottle of arsenic

a couple of flatirons in each hand . . .

And a little girl in Milwaukee wound up an alarm clock, set it and then swallowed the key.

With things the way they are today, we wouldn't have been surprised if she had swallowed the clock.

But the truth of the matter—as we explained

When George threw the dollar across the

Mr. Washington spent the next day visiting

Just Folks
By Edgar A. Guest

EXESIGHT
Optician, tell me if you can Correct the vision of a man
And can you truly measure what
His eyes discover or do not,
And have you glasses he can buy
His faulty sight to rectify?

You say you can relieve the strain
And make the finest printing plain
And find the glasses to reveal
The joys which failing eyes conceal.
But what of him, whose blindness is Produced by hate or prejudice?
Have you the art to set aright
A bigot's ever narrowing sight
Or help a man the good to see Whom he believes it cannot be?
What glasses can you offer him
Whose eyes are blinded by a whim?
What of those eyes filmed o'er with hate?
Can you set such vision straight
And help that man the good to see
In one he thinks his enemy?
Have you a glass, concave or flat,
To give man's eyes such power as that?

IS IT COMING TO THIS?

CONTESTS IN ORATORY ARE 8 YEARS OLD

Movement Originated in California Under Auspices of Schools

The National Oratorical contest sponsored in the immediate region around Appleton Post-Crescent had its origin in the schools of California eight years ago. The contest is open to any high school student who was not over 19 on Feb. 1, 1923, and information for participation in the Appleton final on April 11, may be obtained from the contest manager at the Post-Crescent office.

In the spring of 1923, the high schools of California participated in an oratorical contest on the subject of the Constitution of the United States. The results of that contest were so substantial that leading newspapers throughout the United States decided to make it national in its scope.

Out of that decision came the first National Oratorical contest in 1924, which was participated in with enthusiasm by high schools throughout the nation. The final meeting of that year was presided over by the president of the American Bar association and addressed by President Coolidge.

The seven youthful contestants from the seven regions into which the nations were divided for the contest were judged by five members of the United States Supreme Court.

Asked Continuation

At its annual convention in 1924, held in Philadelphia, the American Bar association passed a resolution calling upon the American newspapers to continue the contest as a contribution toward better and more intelligent citizenship. Similar requests were made formally by the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic and educational organizations. By 1926 the contest had become international. Under the plan for expansion, there was no sacrifice of the American characteristics. Rather, the Constitution of the United States remained the subject of American oratory.

This is the first year that Wisconsin has been represented in the contest, which is being sponsored in the state by the Wisconsin Daily League of Newspapers. The Appleton Post-Crescent a member of the League, is conducting the contest in its newspaper territory. Local prizes will be given the first four winners, including $50 first prize; $25, second, $15, third; $10, fourth. In addition the winner will be sent to Madison to compete in the state contest, in which four place winners will receive prizes awarded by the newspaper league. The state winner will be sent to Kansas City, the semi-final district including Wisconsin, and every winner in the seven semi-finals will be given a trip to Europe and have expenses paid to compete in the national contest in Washington.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR TRI STATE CONGRESS

Duluth, Minn.—(P)—Plans are nearing completion here for the fourth annual Tri-State Dairy congress to be held March 20, with dairy leaders from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan in attendance. W. H. Schilling, of Northfield, Minn., member of the Federal Farm Board, is to be the principal speaker at the congress, while addresses also are to be given by prominent dairy men and governors of the three lake states.

As in previous years, leading dairymen of the three states are to be guests of honor at the congress and will be awarded diplomas and trophies in three classes.

Plans are to have Gov. Floyd E. Olson of Minnesota, Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin, and Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan attend the congress. Dr. C. H. Eckles, of the dairy division of the University of Minnesota, also will be a speaker.

Colorful And Ingenious Decorations Devised For Almost Any Room In House

It is new this spring, and very, very smart, to let color in through your windows as well as light. I do not mean paint your window glass. Nor do I mean the flair for color that the best drapes and even the window shades have shown for some time.

Rather, by a series of ingenious devices, many home-makers are using windows as focal points of beauty, a characteristic that used to belong only to fireplaces, to grand pianos, to a handsome, heirloom sofa and screen.

One woman who lives in an apartment where the windows look upon rather unattractive courts, solves her problems by hanging colorful pottery bowls by chains in which oxalis, ivy and bulbs thrive to add gaiety and take the eye from the scene outside.

Another woman whose kitchen windows give on a court where ash cans perpetually rest, has pasted a trio of flying red birds and blue birds across the pane and says they cheer her tremendously.

Don't Keep Out Light

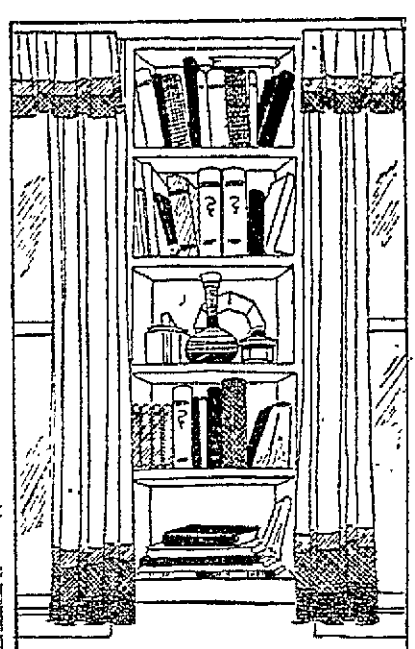

The main idea of getting color in through the window is to be careful not to exclude the light. Granted that consideration is respected, you can try out all kinds of things in the way of novel window sill and window pane treatment.

In apartments, where space is at a premium, a third consideration enters. Why not utilize the window sill for some grand purpose?

This utilitarian thought has given birth to so many uses of the window sill that it is practically a disappearing character. Like the yard man in one house where the radiators came just under the sills, a board was built flush with the sills, painted the same color, and used as a stand for gay colored books, magazines and a bit of pottery.

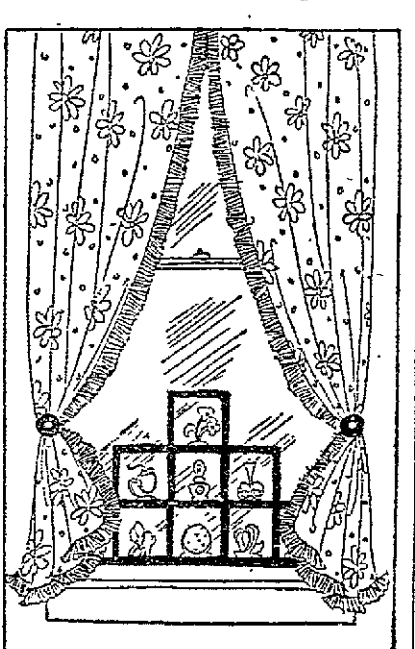

For the Bathroom

One of the most novel uses of windows to let in color was originated

Between two windows, a built-in bookcase houses a variety of gay books and one shelf is reserved for bits of bright pottery. Cushions on the sill encourage loitering here.

in a bathroom. There just happened to be small space to put things. So the young couple moving in had the bright idea of getting the carpenter to sink a cupboard into the plaster right under the window sill where cold creams, shaving utensils,

A modernistic black window-sill stand holds all kinds of colorful gadgets of crystal and porcelain, that gives spice and interest to the window view.

soaps and undecorative things were kept. Then three ten-cent glass shelves were purchased and arranged, in horizontal manner, one a few inches above the other, right across the window pane. On these were placed bright crystal bottles, jars and perfume atomizers in a gala array. They were extremely decorative, the light not only came through just as well but brighter for their color, and best of all, the crystal shelves solved the problem of where to put things.

This particular window, since the bathroom was not only small but not very light because the window led out onto a court, had its brightness heightened by the use of glazed chintz curtain in the most vivid of daffodil yellows. It caught the light and in some curious way, seemed always to be reflecting the sun, whether there was any or not.

A living-room window shelf I saw recently was both modern and old-fashioned, if such a thing sounds sane.

There, in the window itself, stood the cutest little modernistic black case, stepped up in skyscraper manner from five or six cubicles on the bottom to a single one on top. Its purpose was to shelter the cutest collection of modern whatnots I've seen in a long time, a humorous elephant, a couple of beautiful cat, an octopus done in modern manner in porcelain, an exquisite vase from abroad and some other things, each fascinating in itself, all together a veritable museum of interest.

Coloring the Light

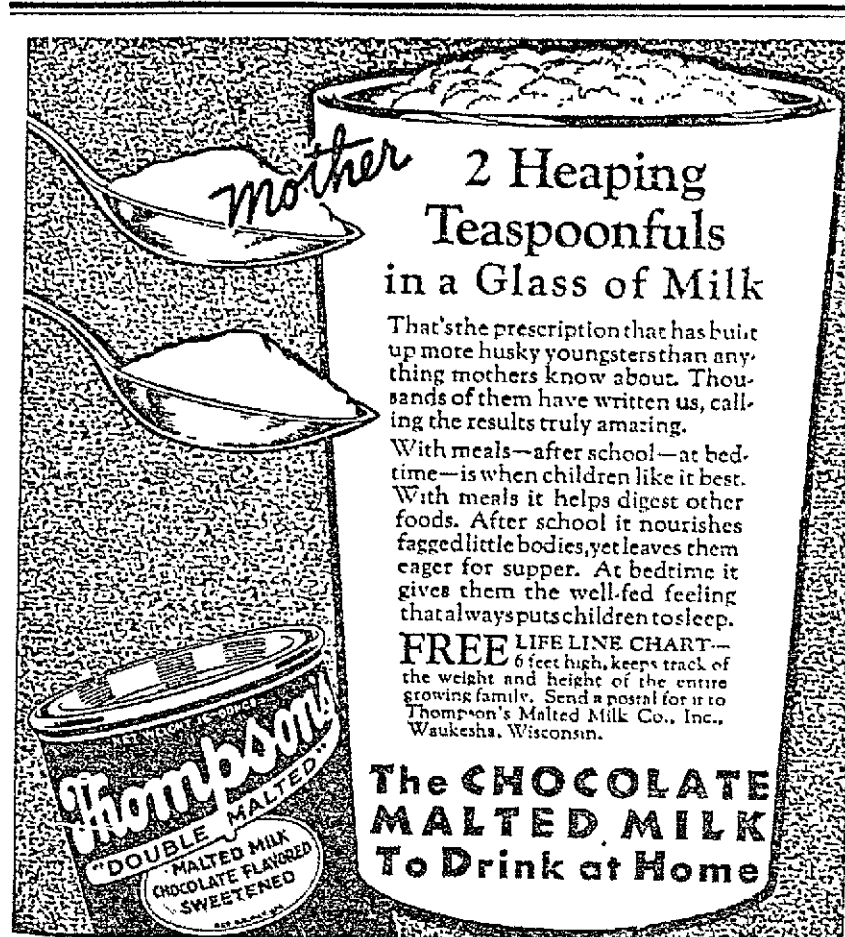

Very new is the idea to place it right in the living room window. But why not? It gets things out of the way where they might be knocked, it makes everything much prettier to have the light from outdoors streaming through them, heightening their own lovely color.

A third window arrangement that seemed to me utterly practical and most attractive was conceived to fill the space between two windows built about two feet apart, with nothing to make them a unit in the room. The owner of the house had bookshelves built between the windows, the entire length of the windows from their tops to their sills. Then straight curtains on each side of the windows seemed decoratively a part of the bookcase too. The window sills were built out slightly to correspond to the bottom shelf of the book case and on either sill were placed gay sofa pillows. You would be surprised how many times guests and members of the family loitered in the windows, reading a bit of this or that book, enjoying the very pretty view outside that the windows commanded.

None of these suggestions may particularly fit your windows. But bare windows are bare sills are no longer smart. What can you do for yours?

Metropolitan policyholders—including about one-fifth of the total populations of United States and Canada—have built up their reserves from millions into billions.

THE financial story below is a record of achievement by men and women who are planning to avert want or to build estates. You may admire their steadfastness of purpose last year under handicaps which tested courage.

These people—policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company—are building for their future. They would like to know what the future holds in store for them and for the country as a whole.

Let them, and other citizens, examine any chart of our country's unparalleled prosperity over the past hundred years. It appears, not merely as a jagged line, but as a series of towering steps which rise steadily onward and upward.

It is heartening now to recall that, after each depression, our country has always gone forward to greater heights of prosperity and better, sounder standards of living. Today this country has more riches and better facilities than ever before with which to commence her next great period of development.

A review of the financial history of the United States since it was founded in 1783 should turn any pessimist into an optimist.

The Metropolitan will gladly mail, free, a booklet, "The Development of Prosperity in America", telling of past ups and downs—and ups again—and how soon the "ups" followed.

Where to Place Color Furniture

Proper arrangement of color furniture is important because of the general effect it gives a room and the comfort of the family. Correct grouping does away with formality and, more than anything else, lends that homelike atmosphere so enviable and so beautiful.

Of course, the requirements in shape, and color and coverings of furniture vary, as will also the number of pieces needed for comfortable furnishing, but for most rooms there are simple formulas which will assist greatly in the arrangement of the pieces.

Make Plans To Observe B.P.W. Week

NATIONAL Business Women's Week, which will be observed in Appleton as well as in other cities of the United States March 8 to 14, was observed for the first time April 15 to 22, 1928, in accordance with a plan presented at the 1927 annual convention of the National Federation at Oakland, Calif. Miss Emma Dot Patridge, New York City, then executive secretary of the organization, made the suggestion.

Originally designed as a publicity week to focus attention upon the achievements of individual business and professional women and upon business and professional women as an organized group, National Business Women's Week has rapidly outgrown its original conception. It is now a week dedicated to the promotion of community projects along educational and welfare lines, not merely to the exploitation of business women.

The local unit is making an attempt to interest merchants and business men of Appleton in organizing special displays for their windows during that week which will draw attention and create an interest in the work the organization is doing.

The club met Monday night at the home of Mrs. F. E. Wright, 2 Washington-st., with 21 members in attendance. Mrs. F. C. Hyde presented the program on "Here's Ireland" by Speakman, Limerick and "Tipp," and Galloway and Lady Gregory. The club will meet again next Monday with Mrs. Peter Thom E. College-ave, and Mrs. A. Don't Bribe Children To Get Control

BY ANGELO PATRI

There was a scuffle outside the classroom door. Then we heard, "Come, Benny. That's a good boy. Come. You go into school now and I'll give you a penny."

"No. Give me a nickel."

In a moment Benny entered the classroom, a nickel clutched in his hand, smiles wreathing his face. That was but yesterday.

It brought to my mind something that happened when I was a boy attending school in the lower grades. There was a boy in our class who never got a good ticket. He always did something that the teacher did not like and so forfeited his ticket.

One afternoon as we marched out, all the good ones among us proudly displaying our certificates of merit, this bad little boy jumped upon one of the smallest good boys and after punching him good, took his ticket.

We chased him and demanded the reason for this highway robbery. "Now you fellows leave me alone. I got a good reason for taking his ticket." My old man told me that if I brought home a good ticket today he would take me to the museum to see the freaks. If I didn't bring home the ticket he would give me a good whalloping. I had to have the ticket. Kistey has lots of them.

We looked at each other and the thing seemed fair enough. He needed that ticket. To such straits does bribery lead innocent little boys. All little boys are not as innocent as our friend, of course, but bribery does not help any of them. It does them harm.

It is right and wise to reward children for work well done. The laborer is worthy of his hire and a bonus along with it. But this bribery is another thing altogether. It hits at the character of the child. It puts gain above duty and say what you like, that is bad as bad can be. So bad that it will not work.

INSTALLATION of officers of the local branch of National Association of Letter Carriers and the Auxiliary took place at a meeting and banquet Saturday night at Hotel Northern. The officers of the branch include Ed Witt, president; Robert Olson, vice president; Hugh Brinkman, secretary; George Weinfurter, treasurer; and Ed Kirsling, sergeant-at-arms. The Auxiliary officials took their seats at this time as Mrs. George Weinfurter, president; Mrs. Reno Clark, vice president; Mrs. Louis Stark, secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Grassberger, treasurer.

Little children need to be cheered along the hard roads of learning, that is true. They need a cheerful teacher, an appreciative audience, somebody to praise when praise is due. But no offer of a reward for doing what it is their plain duty to do. No "If you do this, I'll do that."

Most of the joy of reward like that is in the mind of the bestower. He thinks the child is as pleased and as proud, feels the thrill of achievement as he does in bestowing the gift, and he is usually wrong. The child does not value the reward at all. He takes it out and sees a few words of praise for a good deed given immediately upon the heels of performance will gladden the child tremendously. The gift of a nickel, a new something or other, last for a minute and then no more is thought of it. The good word given in season lasts.

Sometimes parents say, "Now you get a good report card this month and I'll buy that wheel, or that new dress you want." The child works better for a day or so and then forgets all about the prize. If the child were capable of making sustained effort like that there would be no need for the promise of a reward, it is mental and spiritual strength and physical health that a child needs. A word of appreciation, a bit of applause for a good deed is all that he asks, or can use. Bribery is bad.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"CLIFFORD is what?" Corinne asked very gently. Far down in the other's eyes she caught the ghost of a hurt...the hopeless kind of ghost that stalked when air castles went slipping quietly to the ground and no one else knew that they had fallen.

"Clifford is married to that Lester creature!" The words shot out like the steady stream of bullets from a machine gun.

"Sybil Lester?" Harry asked. "Yes, the one that holds her head up and walks as though her grand-father planted the tree that gave Eve the idea for apple sauce. They were married the other day...but I just got a letter from Clifford after lunch today."

"But you didn't...you couldn't have liked Clifford well enough to care?" Corinne said without thinking. "You were just playing...with him."

The girl shook her head and her eyes were queer. "Women are strange creatures. When we decide we like a man well enough to call it love we can't help ourselves. Yes, I guess I was pretty strong for the kid. I don't care who knows it!" She threw her head back proudly and the pride that she sacrificed to make her confession seemed rather shoddy by the new bravery that she flaunted forth.

"But you don't know anything about that! You're safe...your husband loves you...you don't have to worry about where your next meal's coming from. You're happy!"

Each word seemed to sting Corinne in the face, quite as much as though Mabelle had reached out and slapped her. She couldn't look at Harry. And Mabel had said that she was happy! But no one must know that her own heart was as strangely empty and quivering and suffering as that of the girl with the defiant, unafraid eyes.

"But why did Sybil Lester marry Clifford?" Corinne asked then. Her eyes met Harry's and they were asking...and acknowledging the same question.

"We'll go to my lawyer's," Harry repeated to the girl. "It won't take long to make a financial arrangement. I'd like this thing settled."

"Then I'll just leave..." Corinne began, but Harry interrupted. "You will come, too," he said deliberately.

Corinne had a curious sensation, as she entered the reception room of Thornton, Curtis and Thornton, that she had come back to an old familiar trying place after many years. The spot was still the same. But the people had changed. Sue was gone. And Jack was gone. Judge Thornton looked older and more haggard. Mrs. Thornton had tiny lines etched around her mouth.

"All through the discussion," Corinne sat very quietly. When Mabelle left them at the door of the office, after the transaction, Corinne pushed her hands more deeply into her pockets and the fingers of her right hand closed over the clinking, silky hair of the wig. She tossed her head and tried to make her voice very light and flippant.

"I don't think you will need me any longer, will you, Harry? I'll just go then." She laughed, but the laughter was eerie and as thin as thisledown. "But...you see that I wasn't involved now, don't you?"

NEXT—Harry's resignation. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

BE NATURAL AND CHEERFUL TO ACQUIRE CHARM

BY ALICIA HART
Charm is about the hardest thing in the world to define. Sometimes it takes the form of great beauty as going with it a gracious smile or an understanding soul. Again it may be a subtle gift for listening. Usually we think but if we were honest in our analysis we would realize that often the most charming people are not and need not be beautiful.

But personableness is a step towards charm, there is no denying that. A person who is careless in her appearance, neglectful of her hands, her hair, her clothing is actually less apt to prove charming than she would be were she to lack herself through a routine of good grooming and careful dressing.

But conscious effort is no way to achieve charm, you may well report. I agree it isn't, but when you once have become perfectly groomed, your hair lustrous, your hands well-kept, your skin blooming and your eyes sparkling, then you can forget yourself, be natural and therefore stand in the way of being more charming.

Naturalness, I should say, is one fundamental requirement of real charm. Forgetfulness of self goes with it. Don't imitate someone you felt was charming for your own way of proving charming to others could never be identically like another's. That is why I say, "Be yourself and forget yourself in the consideration of others." These are steps towards charm.

Learning the correct posture so you will never feel awkward is another step. You know yourself that you are uncomfortable with one who is ill at ease. If you learn to carry yourself well, sit with dignity and grace, you will lose this awkwardness that has stood in your way.

Last but not least, your smile has much to do with your charm. Look at Maurice Chevalier! The story is told that when he was in a cheap music hall in Paris a famous actress once said, "That boy's smile will carry him far." It certainly has. But he puts so much of himself into that smile of his. He feels it. Therefore it is infectious and we all smile with him and think him charming at the same time.

Don't copy anyone else's smile. But learn to smile all you can. A sunny person is much more apt to be charming and welcome than a sullen or morose one. Health, good grooming, your clothes as neat and chic as you can manage without running into debt. Then, on top of that, if you can actually manage to think life's worth living and show you do, just see if those about you don't turn towards you and finally build for you the reputation for having charm.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: Can you tell me how to cure jealousy? I know it is all wrong but since I've fallen in love it seems that I can think of nothing but the possibility that my man might fall in love with someone else. I am desperately anxious to overcome this feeling, but what can I do?

Do you realize that the reason you're worried about all the other girls is because you lack confidence in yourself. If you were one hundred percent sure of yourself you wouldn't give all your deadly rivals a single thought.

Have the spunk to believe that you're as good as the next girl. After all the most wonderful man in the world has shown to brace you up to meet all comers. Do you imagine that you're so ugly or will fade so quickly that he's going to tire of you soon? Or do you imagine that your personality is so utterly colorless that he will weary of it before many weeks have passed? If you do, you must just sit down and give yourself a good healthy lecture on how good you are and why.

Also you're not very flattering to the man you love if you believe him incapable of picking out the girl he really wants. You infer that he's a fickle butterfly who has fastened his affections on you temporarily. Can't you trust him enough to realize that he must have a real feeling for you to want you above every other girl in the world?

There's just one other point to be considered as a possible cause for this green eyed monster and that is, that your own feeling is not deep enough to include real trust and understanding. If you're merely playing at love, if you're kidding yourself and the man in believing that you are experiencing a deep emotion then you may very well be nervous, and anxious about your hold on him.

The woman who does not trust her own emotions will seldom trust another's. She will suspect always, because she knows that she suspects herself. She will read into others' thoughts, her own fickle doubts are fears. Because she lacks understanding she will misinterpret every gesture and word.

lies the cause of your weakness, and you'll overcome it readily enough. Use every argument to persuade yourself that you're a big number if you lack self-confidence. If you're merely doing your man an injustice, tell yourself that you ought to be ashamed, and convince yourself that he's worthwhile enough to know the girl he really loves when he finds her.

And if you're still doubting his love because you doubt yourself, don't attempt to take the affair too seriously. You may be merely building a romance on the wrong foundation in which case you want to go very slowly so as not to rush yourself into the wrong sort of matrimonial business.

DEFEATED: Who defeated you? Didn't you talk yourself into believing that you were a failure at your first job? Didn't you find out long afterward that only your own inferiority complex made it impossible for you to stay in the office where you might have worked up to a better position?

Now you're in very much the same fix again. You imagine that you're surrounded by hostile criticism. You suspect ridicule and rebuke in every word addressed to you. Instead of concentrating on your job, you concentrate on your self and your personal shortcomings so that every move in the office becomes a matter of personal concern to you.

Just get this nonsense out of your head, buckle down to your job and work so hard that you haven't time to be sensitive and touchy. You'll find that when you're really concentrated on work, your troubles will smooth out of their own accord.

OH! OH! OH!
A racketeer on trial for murder bribed an Irishman with $100 to hold out for a verdict of manslaughter. After being out for a long time, the jury returned with the desired verdict.

"I'm awfully grateful to you," the racketeer told the Irishman. "Did you have much trouble?"

"Yes," replied the son of Erin. "I had a devil of a time. All the rest wanted to acquit you."—Fath-finder.

MY NEIGHBOR Says—

Always grease preserving pan well with butter when making orange marmalade. If this is done you will have a very clear marmalade that is not likely to burn while cooking.

Lace curtains before being washed for the first time should be soaked for an hour or two in cold water to which 2 tablespoons of table salt have been added. This removes dressing in curtains and makes them much easier to launder.

Stains may be removed from a marble mantelpiece in the following way: First of all, wash with soap and water, then wipe dry, and apply a paste made of finely powdered bathbrick or carbonate of soda, and lemon juice. Rub this well into the discolored parts and rinse off in clean, cold water.

To clean gas stove burners boil them in a strong solution of washing soda and water for about half an hour. This will remove all the grease. Rinse thoroughly, dry and put them back into the stove.

Col. Roy F. Farrand Delivers Address at Joint Banquet at Neenah

Neenah—Objectives of the American Legion were outlined by Col. Roy F. Farrand, Delafield, state commander of the Legion and commander of St. John Military academy, at a joint banquet for James P. Hawley post, American Legion, and the Legion auxiliary at Valley Inn last night.

He pointed out the need of adequate hospitalization, described soldier relief measures in congress, and asked that preparedness be increased as a means of assuring peace for the United States. The Kellogg peace pact, he pointed out, is a "noble experiment" which might fail. More than 200 heard his address.

Frank J. Schneller was toastmaster. Otto Loeber, Jr., Neenah commander, gave the introduction followed by invocation by the Rev. E. C. Kollath, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church.

Introducing the guests, Mr. Schneller paid a tribute to the Gold Star mothers, and the three remaining veterans of the Civil War, Robert Law, M. McCallum and Thad Sheerin, who were guests. He also introduced Mayor George E. Sande, who told of close cooperation of the Legion with all civic affairs; Lester Mads, director of the high school band which furnished music in the hotel lobby; James Fritzen, postmaster; Fred Heinrich, of Appleton, commander of Wisconsin's largest Legion post, R. McKinnon, Oshkosh; Leslie Remmel, of the Menasha post; Mrs. Del Mayhew, president of Menasha Auxiliary; Erick Madisen, Appleton editor of the Legionaire and Mrs. T. D. Smith, president of the Neenah Auxiliary, the largest in the state, and who gave the welcome from the Auxiliary to the guests.

Otto Lieber welcomed the guests for the post, with an encore by Jack Meyer, county commander. John Mezera of Two Rivers, sixth district commander, responded with "The Sixth Leads."

Arthur Schumacher of Kaukauna, commander of the ninth district took exception to Mr. Mezera's talk on sixth district and responded with Not For Long. Mrs. Olive Smith of Oshkosh, sixth district president, talked on We Too Serve, telling of the work of the district women's lodges; Mrs. Lola Nauth of Kiel, department vice president, talked on the Auxiliary, claiming that but 1-200 more members are needed in the district to have the Sixth go over the top. Mrs. Nauth presented a list to Mr. D. Smith of the Neenah auxiliary as a token to the branch of which she is president for reaching the highest total in members in the state.

Walter Abel of Manitowoc, department vice commander, talked on the work of his office and commended Dr. E. C. Cary of Neenahville, and Fred M. Smith of De Pere, both past department vice commanders. L. Hugo Keller, of Appleton, past department commander, and the Rev. J. J. O'Connell, Neenah pastor, chaplain, were unable to be present. Music was furnished by a male quartet composed of Collip, Collip, Daniels and Garfield, with Emlyn Owen's accompaniment.

Mr. Schneller called the roll of both Legion and Auxiliary former Neenah post commanders and auxiliary presidents, those present responding by arising.

Making America a better place to live in by beginning with the youth of the land, he said, "Give your sons and daughters the best of the American Legion."

He suggested that every Legion post sponsoring a Boy Scout troop and see that they have military training. He hinted that there is a move in progress to cut the size of the standing army in this country to 80,000 men. Quoting part of Washington's message in 1793, he said, "If we want peace, we must at all time be prepared for war." We must have adequate military preparedness as we have always been the most unprepared in the world. If we are not prepared our sons will be sacrificed on altars pacifists are trying to raise again. Unpreparedness was shown in the last war when young men were taken from the ribbon counter put in the front lines in a few weeks, and then moved down for lack of training."

Preceding Col. Farrand, Mrs. Adeline Macaulay of Menominee, National and international president, gave a short talk.

"I defy anyone to show us any sort of a gambling institution in the city of Neenah or an open violation of the eighteenth amendment," the mayor said. "The accusation that there exists in the city houses of prostitution is unthinkable. Nothing of the sort has been allowed to exist. Our police department is efficient, and the city and its citizens are clean and well cared for in the matter of law enforcement."

The so-called foreign element, mentioned in Buckley's allegations, is composed of hard working and law abiding men and women, raising large families and classed as some of the finest citizens in the city.

"It is a well known fact that during the present depression there are large numbers of men on the road, moving from city to city. Although a part of this transient group are law violators and cannot heat addicts, they are housed in the city police station at night and are sent out of town the following morning. I expect that all other cities are faced with this sort of thing and it is impossible to be responsible for the actions of this class of men."

Never Saw Acted
"While I am not a mayor the city has never been asked to cooperate with federal prohibition enforcement agencies through my office, and although they may have been here, I have never seen a representative of the federal prohibition enforcement staff. I flatly deny the allegations made in Buckley's report."

"Some of these so-called foreign families have been residents of this city for three generations. They are hard working men, raising large families, and they are neither inclined nor in a position to patronize such institutions as those mentioned in the commission's report," he said.

Volunteers In Midwest
Out To Crush Racketeers

Chicago—(AP)—America's volunteer battle front against the racketeer is drawn up through the middle west.

Back of a line drawn through Detroit, Chicago and Kansas City the citizenry is up in arms and taking a hand.

These vigilantes of 1931 are in the grand manner. They resemble those of the older days upon the plains no more than an ultra-modern apartment building resembles the sod shanties of the pioneers, but the notion is the same.

Old time vagrancy laws, drafted for use against the ancient "bum," use of the handy legal weapons of which were made use by the more infested racket centers. But the rich racketeer or gang leader can laugh at these "teethless" attacks. To make the law more effective, it is now urged the Michigan legislature is considering a bill which would make possible 50 day jail sentences for vagrancy. A special grand jury at Detroit, inquiring into crime, is expected to return a large number of indictments.

Chicago conducts its crusade against the racketeer through three volunteer agencies—the Chicago Crime Commission, the Employers' association and the famous "Secret Six" committee of the Association of Commerce. The crime commission is supported by subscription. It devotes itself largely to publicity. It compiles complete record of hundreds of criminals and is a constant check on the courts with its up to date record of every pending criminal case.

Both the Employers' Association and the Secret Six" use undercover agents. Alexander Jamies, former "ace" investigator of the federal prohibition department, is the chief sleuth of the "Secret Six" and the Employers' association has as its chief operative one of the most astute detectives in the city.

Kansas City has a "Secret Five." It was brought into being after Michael Kazis, monthly head of a chain of retail drug stores was kidnapped and held under threat of death until $100,000 was delivered to his captors. The committee of five functions through a crime prevention bureau set up by the

5 INVESTMENT TRUSTS AFTER PLACES ON CURB

Make Application for Membership Under New Listing Requirements

BY JOHN A. CRONE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—Five fixed investment trusts are seeking admission to the New York curb exchange. They are applying under the tentative listing requirements made known last week. Executives of trusts laud and decry exchange trading as the curb markets governors ponder over the proposed regulations and weigh the merits of applicants.

Prize for admittance to exchange trading of the latest fashion in American finance comes from the new fixed trusts. They see in listing a way to comply with blue sky laws of various states and quickened distribution, as a result of the advertising furnished by curb quotations. Furthermore, transactions of this security market would add prestige to fixed trusts in New York city, where their distribution has been limited.

Resentment emanates from the older fixed trusts which have built up nationwide dealer organizations. Dealers, through personal contact, in 1930 sold about $300,000,000 of the $600,000,000 fixed trust certificates now outstanding. The proposed requirement that substantially all distribution must be made through trading on the curb floor would curtail sales by dealers, because the public could go to the exchange and buy for the same price there.

Provide Speculation
Listing such securities, this group contends, would introduce an element of speculative trading, that might cause wide variations from a stock's actual worth.

While these two trust factions engage in arguments, many sections of the public are asking bankers and brokers all sorts of questions about the biggest security seller in last year's bear market.

The fixed trust primarily is based on the investment idea of locking securities in a vault and throwing away the key. This type of trust is merely a security dressed up in a new suit of clothes and offered to the public. Out of the first basic conception of these fixed trusts emerges the idea of safekeeping or trusteeship, and from the second comes the notion of making the cloth used to make the suit, therefore, prospective investors should ask: "Who is the trustee? What are the stocks in the trust?"

Of the five types of securities more or less popularly referred to as investment trusts, only one—the fixed trust—is of purely American origin. John Thorold introduced the first fixed trust in 1920 when he brought out United Bankers Oil shares, a trust composed of 10 Standard Oil stocks. This was followed by three other "United" trusts, each based on the 10 leading units of their respective industries. These fixed trusts, unlike some today, were to run for a definite number of years. They were liquidated, considerably above their original offering prices.

Pays Brokerage Costs
The organizer of the fixed trust has to pay brokerage expenses, fees for trusteeship, and marketing costs of certificates, and expects to receive some compensation for service. These four items, naturally, go into the offering price of fixed trust shares. The fixed trusts also include a sixth charge. This sometimes is referred to as the "reserve fund charge," which may amount to 10 per cent of the total selling price. This charge, of course, is deposited in a reserve fund against which dividends can be drawn if and when any of the trustees shares "turn sour" as a result of reduced or omitted dividends or assessments.

Four factors that will have an important bearing on the future of fixed trusts are: the continuance of the United States as a creditor nation, a position really held only since 1918; the great strides in research which have improved the standards of corporate management; the rapid rate of consolidations, or the integration of industry; and the spread of customer-ownership, which is enlightening public opinion on government regulations.

And One 65 Cent Bottle of Broncholine Is Guaranteed to Do It

Lingering coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out. There are the breed of coughs that prove common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day.

It's guaranteed by all druggists to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

For ordinary coughs three or four doses is usually enough. Voigt's Drug Store, 124 E. College Ave., and dealers everywhere can supply you—a generous bottle 65 cents. Adv.

Lone Observer Identifies Ships 32 Miles From Shore

San Francisco—(CP)—When a ship thrusts its funnel over the horizon 32 miles off the Golden Gate Julius Larsen can look through his 12-foot glass and tell the name of the far-distant vessel.

From dawn until the sun sinks in the blue Pacific, Larsen scans the wide stretch of water through his glass for vessels arriving from all ports of the world.

Through the years Larsen has come to know most of the ships which ply the seven seas.

"Let me see the star and I can tell the ship from as far as 32 miles at sea on a clear day," said Larsen.

TWO GIRLS LEADING TYPEWRITING CLASS

Miss Selma Refike and Miss Mildred Schreier lead their typewriting class in contest honors for Gregg and Allied Typists pins.

Eleven students submitted papers in the contest sponsored by the Gregg Publishing Co. The papers were graded on the basis of accuracy, correct application of shorthand principles, and appearance. They all qualified for certificates, Selma Refike winning high honors. The 22 students submitting papers for the Allied Typists contests qualified for certificates, Mildred Schreier being judged the best.

BRITISH WOMAN IS ARDENT FOLLOWER OF MAHATMA GANDHI

Foresakes Life and Pleasures of English to Become an Ascetic

New Delhi, India—(CP)—Behind the scenes of the present political drama in India is an English woman, Miss Madeleine Slade, daughter of Sir Edmund Slade, for many years commander-in-chief of British naval forces in India.

Renouncing all the pleasures, comforts and amenities of everyday existence, Miss Slade has embraced asceticism and the mysteries of Hindu life and has become the ardent disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, who took her to the sacred city of Benares and after immersing her in the Holy Ganges river, initiated her into the mysteries of the Hindu religion.

She has shaved her head in monastic fashion, given all her money to the poor, goes barefooted, burned all her European clothes and wears only the cheapest homespun Hindu garments. She has taken the Hindu name of "Mira Bai." When asked by her British friends if she is "Miss Slade" she replies: "No. Miss Slade has been dead and buried for five years."

Miss Slade plays, fasts and indulges in various forms of expiation, and enters into regular periods of silence and meditations. She has charge of Gandhi's household, prepares all his meals, sees that he is properly clothed and looks after him with a mother's solicitude for a child.

Gandhi's own wife, who is a woman of advanced age, could not show more devotion to the aged leader than Miss Slade who worships him with the ardor of the most intense religious zealot. Mrs. Gandhi, who has not seen her husband since he entered prison nine months ago, keeps quietly in the background, never appearing among those who share Gandhi's counsels.

Miss Slade, who is a woman of marked culture, ability and executive capacity, is much more than a mere servant or disciple of Gandhi. She takes an active part in the independence movement and in addition to giving Gandhi advice, she attends to his large correspondence.

There have been frequent rumors that the British authorities were on the point of deporting her. She is Gandhi's closest confidante, sharing all his secrets, hopes and sorrows. Miss Slade first learned of Gandhi five years ago through reading Romain Rolland's sketch of the famous ascetic. She sought permission from Gandhi to join his Ashram or colony in India. Gandhi replied that it would be best for her to take a year to consider the matter, whereupon Miss Slade went to Switzerland, changed all her habits and customs and pursued a simple life, working and living among the peasants of Switzerland. This was in preparation for her life of self-denial, humility and devotion among Gandhi's followers in India.

Her father disinherited her for embracing the cause of Indian independence to the detriment of the British empire but the daughter did not care. She wanted to dedicate her whole life to the great movement of human emancipation initiated by Gandhi. She mastered the Hindustani language, familiarized herself

Mother of Four Babies

"Although I am only 22 years old, I have four babies to care for. Before my first baby was born my mother urged me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was so terribly weak. I had to lie down four or five times a day. After three bottles I could feel a great improvement. I still take the Vegetable Compound whenever I need it for it gives me strength to be a good mother to my family."—Mrs. Vern L. Dennings, 510 Johnson Street, Saginaw, Michigan.

Green Bay Packer Pro Cagers And Miller Cords Clash At Armory

JOHNNY BLOOD PLAYS FORWARD FOR INVADERS

Michalske, Darling, Herber, Zuidmulder, Engleman Also on Squad

APPLETON'S professional basketball entry will entertain for the home folks here tonight with the Green Bay Packers as the opponents. The local pros, the Miller Cords, defeated the Milwaukee Badgers and Art Shires last Tuesday by an overwhelming score and showed themselves as a great squad.

The invading quintet, composed entirely of professional football players from the famous Green Bay pro team, has been knocking off a good many squads in Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Foremost among the invaders is Johnny Blood about whom almost everyone has heard something in the couple years—the "Vagabond halfback" has been playing with the Bays. Blood performs at forward and is rated a star basket tosser. He also finds time to carry on conversation with the fans.

Wurt, Engleman, a half back on the pro grid team, plays center for the invaders. He too is a college trained cager and tips a mean ball. Mike Michalske is a member of the team and so is "Boob" Darling who is getting rather big around his mid section but who still manages to get about the floor with more or less grace.

Two other members of the squad who have performed in Appleton in recent years are Arnie Herber former West high school cager star and Dave Zuidmulder, also from one of the Bay institutions. Herber last performed here in the days when he could crack a long shot from the Masonic temple. Zuidmulder starred a year or two previous.

Tonight's Miller Cord aggregation will be no set-up for the Bays. It will boast the same aggregation that snuffed under the Great Art Shires and the Milwaukee Badgers but with another game to its credit.

Saturday night, playing for the power company, the Cords ran up a meager 48 points. Schneller will again jump center tonight unless he tangles with Engleman and the referee boots both of them.

Zeke Rempel and Jerry Slavic have been nominated for forward berths and give the Cords plenty of scoring ability. The guards will be Baldy Eggert and Milt Schuele both of whom should be able to cope with the Bay forwards.

The preliminary game beginning shortly after 7 o'clock will know the Kaukauna Mulrooney and the Bears from the Industrial league.

PLAY KIMBERLY PROS.

Two of the strongest pro teams in the valley, namely the Appleton Miller Cords and the strong Kimberly All Stars will clash at the Kimberly Clubhouse Thursday evening. The two teams have met every year and in the last two seasons the Appleton aggregation has taken home the bacon. With the return of "Ossie" L. Cooke at the helm of the Kimberly squad, the two teams should be a treat for every fan.

The Cords have a squad made up of ex-college stars. The Kimberly team with the exception of Cooke has never romped the court wearing the banners of some college. But anybody that knows basketball or has played against members of the Kimberly squad like Courchane, Gossens, Busch, and Koll will soon find that all basketball players are not taught the tricks of the game while at school. Cords will come here with a great team starting Schneller, Rempel, and Slavic all who learned the tricks of Coach A. C. Denny at Lawrence to a great advantage. At one guard post will be "Deedehorse" Schuele formerly of Oshkosh normal, and at the other guard position will be "Baldy" Eggert the only member of the Appleton squad who has not had varsity experience on some college team. The Kimberly team will be led by the lanky "Ossie" Cooke at the pivot position, Koll and Gossens at the forward berths, with Courchane and Busch at the guard posts.

In a preliminary game the Little Chute Holy Name team will clash with a local team known as "Spots" Cut throats. The fans who attend this double bill also will be entertained by some local vaudeville talent.

Sports Question Box

Question—Bases are full in the last half of the ninth inning. The score is tied and two are out. Batter is given a base on balls and the runner from third neglects to go home. Catcher asks for the ball and a decision. Should the runner from third be ruled out?

Answer—This question is often put as a puzzle. There can be but one common sense reply to it. The runner must score. It is true that the rules say every base must be touched to obtain a run but in this case the rules say that the batter is arbitrarily given a first base. This forces all other runners to advance and the runner from third is practically given home plate. There is no other way out of it.

Question—Is the national court tennis title held in this country or abroad?

Answer—Abroad. Pierre Etchebest of France is the pro champion and Lord Abercrombie of England the amateur.

Question—Does Notre Dame play Southern California next fall? If so where?

Answer—Southern California comes to South Bend next fall.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

THE following story was written by Billy Sixty, golf writer for Milwaukee's Journal and the only golfer-scribe ever to qualify for a national open:

Five years ago Frank Walsh was a nobody in golf. He had caddied in Chicago, then became a caddy master and later apprenticed in the pro shop of his brother before moving into Wisconsin to take charge of professional duties at the Butte des Morts club at Appleton.

Quiet, reticent and concentrated in his game almost to the extent of impressing fellow pros that he was conceited and aloof, Walsh went seriously about the business of conquering the hazards of gold by becoming a crack shot player. He never dissipated, didn't drink, and was a 9 o'clock boy of the Horton Smith type. On dull days at the club, when he had no lessons booked, Walsh would grab a bag of balls and practise for hours on the open acres on the east side of the Butte des Morts course.

Members of Butte des Morts appreciated Walsh's views and did everything possible to help him succeed. They allowed him to play whatever tournaments he desired and occasionally collected purses to help defray expenses to the various meets.

In his first Wisconsin open tourney at Kenosha in 1926 he had the championship safely tucked in his spacious golf bag, to all appearances, with 87 holes of the 72 completed. A. E. C. (Buster) Bock of Sheboygan, only amateur to ever win our state open, was in with 205 total. Walsh stood on the sixty-eighth tee, 212-yard hole, needing par in for 229.

It looked like an absolute cinch, a 100 to 1 shot that he'd win with four or five shots to spare. But he blew up like a Cleary "pneumonia." The echoes of that blow-up are still heard at Kenosha. Members who were in on that awful explosion came to that short fourteenth hole and say: "Here's where Frank Walsh once threw away the state open championship."

Blows Up As a matter of fact he didn't throw it away exactly at that hole, but he did throw his golf machinery so badly out of gear that it precipitated the real blow-up a bit later on the seventy-first hole. Both are one-shotters, that fourteenth and seventeenth. Good, stiff par three holes.

On the fourteenth Walsh hooked his iron slightly and landed on a bunker. He hooked it so bad that the ball until finally he had consumed seven shots to roll it into the cup.

This he followed with two fine pars but on the seventeenth he again hooked an iron and proceeded to hop from one bunker to the other, back and fourth across the green, to take another bulging seven. He lost by two shots to Bock with his 307 total.

In 1927 he was runner-up to Francis Gallett of Blue Mound by a shot and then, after these two exorcising experiences, he won by a stroke over Gallett at Blue Mound in 1928. He had Gallett for runner-up honors at Butte des Morts in 1929. Johnny Bird bagging the crown, and last summer he went back to Chicago to take up duties there.

Follows Winter Trail

Since 1927 Walsh has been making the winter tournaments out this way. Hardly anyone took note of him at first, which was expected, naturally, with stars like Bobby Cruickshank, MacDonald Smith, George Von Elm, Walter Hagen and such fellows to hog the spotlight. Occasionally Walsh knocked a good round, but not until last year did manager to break through.

He grabbed the sack of gold at Catalina, in Bill Wrigley's get.

Gradually Walsh was gaining experience, and with added experience he got more and more accustomed to tournament environment. Instead of feeling queer nerve quakes when he teed up with the big shots, he became one of them. He knew he had the shots and confidently matched stroke for stroke with them.

This has been his best winter. He didn't take any top honors but he was runner-up in several meets and that, against Horton Smith, Hagen, MacDonald Smith, Johnny Golden, Gene Sarazen and the rest of the big names, was proof beyond doubt that Walsh had "arrived."

"As fine a shot maker as any of them," is the comment heard among pros here on Walsh's game. "He'll come through in the open (national) some day. He's got all the shots in his bag and it's just a question of his putting. Nothing disturbs him."

That for Frank Walsh, all in five years. And should he win the American open, which I certainly hope he does, he'll assuredly have earned it. Any golfer, and particularly a professional, who can stand out in a practice field and work as Walsh worked on his game, deserves to win. And I know, too, that Butte des Morts members join me in wishing him every success.

WHEELER, BEST CLASH IN HANDBALL FINALS

At Wheeler and J. Best, Jr., will clash in the final round of the upper bracket of the handball tournament at the T. M. C. A. Best went into the finals when he defeated Art Jensen, 21-5 and 21-13. The winner of the match will play the winner of the other bracket for the title. Double elimination rules are being followed. About 30 players are in the tournament.

LARRY JOHNSON WON'T BATTLE LOU SCOZZA

Chicago—(AP)—Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro heavyweight, has cancelled his engagement to meet Lou Scozza of Buffalo, at Rosten Thursday night because of an injured hand.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

I VET SHIVER, the Detroit rookie, is one of the great pair of Georgian ends of several seasons ago. Marshall Blackstock, reformed ex-boxer who now is a wrestler, says the grunting game has arrested the progress of punch-drunkness that was beginning to set in on his many shoulders. Max Baer should take up the grunting industry, and a couple of others you could hit with a stone and never bother. Spradley, Jolly, the White Sox outfielder, used to be a politician. Now maybe you could call him a fly copper. He can run all day in a telephone booth. If Jack Quinn, who is a shifty about his age, isn't 50 years old, I hope Wilbert Robinson is so slender he could hide behind Connie Mack.

M'CARTHY LIMITS NEW YORK YANKS TO 2 MEALS DAILY

Chicago Cub Squad Finally Assembled at Catalina Island Camp

T. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The New York Yankees, who in the past have boasted of some of the heartiest eaters in major league baseball, are bearing up as well as might be expected under the shock of hearing that they are to be limited to two meals a day during spring training.

"Marque Joe" McCarthy, New-York manager, has ordered his charges to forego the customary noon meal and to all their eating in the morning and evening.

Avalon, Cal.—(AP)—The Chicago Cub squad was completely assembled on Catalina Island today, but members of the second delegation were not scheduled to work. Manager Rogers Hornsby planned another six-inning contest between the Pat Malones and the Gabby Hartnetts, but will call all hands out tomorrow.

Clearwater, Fla.—(AP)—When Shakespeare wrote that line about "What's in a name" he must have had Wilbert Robinson, portly manager of the Brooklyn Robins, in mind.

Names never have been Robby's strong suit.

"They're not all here," he complained yesterday. "That lumbago, must still be holding out somewhere. Saute is here and so is Monday."

The boys finally discovered he meant Lombardi, Saute and Van Lingo.

San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—Having given the new ball, preliminary test, Tom Clarke, veteran coach of the New York Giants, comes up with the opinion that it's as lively as ever.

These may be better pitching this year and more accurate throwing by the fielders," says Clarke, "but the ball travels as fast as ever. There won't be so much wildness on the mound but the line drives will be just as wild as ever."

Tampa, Fla.—(AP)—"Red" Lucas, Bennie Frey and St. Johnson, looked especially well here today as the Cincinnati Reds' battersmen went through their second day of practice. "Biff" Wynn and Al Eckert, two left handed recruits, also appeared ready to carry on. Mickey Doolan and Bobby Walsh were in direct charge of the workouts, in the absence of Manager Dan Howley confined to his home with an infected toe.

New Orleans.—(AP)—Lew Fonseca, it appears, will be at first base, where he led the league in batting in 1929, when the Cleveland Indians start their 1931 drive. Even though Eddie Morgan, who has announced his retirement in favor of making boxes, succumbs to the lure of cracked out home runs, the Tribe doesn't expect him to be in shape.

West Palm Beach.—(AP)—The first contingent of the Browns was due for a brief limbering up here this afternoon, several hours after arrival from St. Louis. Approximately half of the squad of 28 will be on hand for the initial workout.

Bradenton, Fla.—(AP)—Flint Rhem, the only unsigned player in the Cardinals' training camp here, was scheduled to confer with President Sam Breadon today regarding a 1931 contract. Breadon and Rhem were reported several thousand dollars apart on salary. Pitchers Jim Lindsey and Syl Johnson were expected to reach camp today.

Paso Robles, Cal.—(AP)—Any Pittsburgh Pirate with some golf in his system must get it out before the National league pennant chase starts.

The advance squad today had it straight from Manager Jewel Ens that:

"The minute the regular big league season begins I believe the niblick and masher should be laid on the shelf."

"The fellow who goes over nine or more holes of golf in the morning cannot do justice to himself on the diamond the same afternoon," Ens said.

Think Baseball And Win, All Rajah Asks Of Cubs

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS Copyright 1931

CHICAGO—(CPA)—Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs is something of a modernist among major league managers. Pursuing the idea that what a baseball player does off the field is mostly his own business, Hornsby will have but few rules of conduct for the Bruins who have started spring training on Catalina Island. His code is brief and simple and not hard to remember.

"Win ball games. Think only of baseball so long as you are in uniform."

However, Mr. Hornsby, who is an iron-fisted Texan, intends seeing to it that the Bruins follow these admonitions to the fullest degree.

"When my players put on their uniforms they are to have nothing but their regular turn. The game is finished. I do not want to hear any talk about stocks, automobiles, girls, taxes or anything else. Tomaro Contractors, Cudahy, Are Team Champs With 3,012 Score

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Andy Glavas, Milwaukee, today was all-events title holder at the conclusion of the Wisconsin state bowling tournament here.

Glavas' total of 1,927 stood as the high mark as the tourney closed yesterday. The final day's play resulted in no change of standings.

E. Mollwitz and J. Vana, Shorewood, took first in the two-men event with 1,316, one pin above the mark of J. Devine and G. Heup, Beloit. J. Zanski, Milwaukee, won the individual event with 698, four pins above M. Malout, Menasha.

The Tomaro Contractors, No. 1, Cudahy, who upset the standings last week with a total of 3,012, emerged on top of the team contests.

The Schroeder Hotels, Milwaukee, were second in the tie with the Koster Eagles, Milwaukee, with 2,971.

Bobby Jones Would Like To Be A Great Baritone; Hates Work In Any Form

World's Golf Champion Vain About Nothing Except Bulging Waistline

BY DILLON GRAHAM ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—If you gave Bobby Jones his choice of all masculine attainments, he'd like to be a sung baritone.

Not that he aspires greatly to fill the vital spot in resonant nineteenth-century ballads, but because he even likes German opera. And he sometimes laments that he had to be born merely to play golf while the really lucky people can sing.

Bobby thinks that if he has any genius at all it is for play. He hates work in any form. He likes to hunt and fish. The first time he ever handled a .45 caliber service revolver he planned seven of his first ten shots within the bulls eye.

But of all strange physical complications, Bobby is right handed and left eyed. He holds a pistol in his right hand but he aims with his left eye. He has worked out marvelously in golf, where you fix the portside optic on the ball and don't dare let your glance stray. It hasn't hurt the pistol shooting. But it is a sore trial indeed when it comes to handling a rifle or shot gun. Bob has to keep the swell left eye closed when he's after birds with a scatter gun. He's a good trapshot, though, and swings an eager stick in pool and billiards.

Working Off Waistline

Bobby isn't particularly vain, but the ballooning waistline that sometimes afflicts the young man will be one of those things that will not be present when he displays his shots before the movie cameras of Hollywood. He won't diet, doesn't believe in it, but he works out daily with a physical director. In less than a month his weight of 185 pounds has shrunk to 175 and two inches have disappeared from his waistline. He is training harder for his motion picture debut than he ever did for a championship golf tournament.

For six years the galleries have been remarking how much heavier the young man has been getting but they were wrong. His five foot seven and a half inches of height will

SHIELDS SEEKS WIN OVER NEENAH HIGHS

Drills Monday Indicate Orange Mentor Wants Victory Tomorrow

Watching Appleton high school basketball team perform in Monday night's practice revealed that if anyone, sports writers included, have any idea Coach Joseph Shields is planning to take the Neenah game Wednesday night as a matter of fact basketball game, he is wrong.

The Orange worked out last night at the armory and worked hard and long as it prepared itself for the Red Rockets. Coach Shields apparently believes his team can take both the Rockets and West Green Bay this week and has set about to prove it.

Several weeks ago the Orange took a trimming from the Rockets and that probably accounts for the reason Shields would like to win tomorrow night. The game was close and anyone's traces until the closing whistle.

The Shieldsmen now are reposing at the top of the valley conference and on the inside track to a title. For that reason Shields probably believes that he is honor bound, or something like that, to try and beat the apparent titlist in the Northwestern Wisconsin loop, a league that, as far as the Fox River Valley league is concerned, rates much lower than the latter outfit.

A preliminary game between the second teams from the two schools will open the evening's performance. Reserved seats for Appleton fans went on sale Monday evening at the Roach Sport Shop.

EXPECT 25,000 AT RISCO-WALKER GO

Young Stribling and Max Schmeling to Perform in Exhibitions

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Promoter "Pa" Stribling will try to pry the lid off the 1931 heavyweight outdoor season tonight with a card featuring Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko in the ten round final, besides exhibition performances by the forthcoming champions rivals, Young Stribling and Max Schmeling.

He expects 25,000 customers to contribute $50,000 to $60,000 at the bazaar sale at $3 to $5.

If it rains tonight, the show will be Wednesday night. The weather has been threatening.

There was no hitch in the arrangements otherwise. Stribling said, despite mysterious reports, emanating from New York, that a cancellation was likely. These reports appeared more concerned with the fate of the return Carnahan-Maloney bout, scheduled as the second of the winter's titistic festivals in the Madison Square Garden arena here on March 5.

Ever since a crack developed in Carnahan's tenth rib, the boys have been skeptical, despite the flat statements of Promoter Frank J. Bruen that under no circumstances would they consider calling his

BIGGERS THIRD IN BIG FOUR SCORING

Lawrence Quintet Playing Last Wisconsin Game Tonight at Ripon

Capt. Hayward Biggers of the Lawrence college basketball team will attempt to crawl a few notches nearer the top of conference scorers tonight when the Blue and White invade Ripon college gym for a Big Four game. The Villing leader now ranks third among the scorers with the Great Hincley and "Stretch" Vander Muehlen on the top.

Biggers has a hard job on his hands, however, for the two Carroll college aces will be in action at Bejolt tonight and both probably will crash through with a flock of points. Hincley leads the loop in scoring with 57 points and Stretch follows with 55. Biggers comes along at 49.

Because the Lawrence-Ripon game at Ripon always is a thriller, a great number of Lawrence fans are planning to make the jaunt. The game offers the Vikings in their last appearance where Blue and White fans may watch them and as many as possible are planning the drive seeking the last thrill from the veteran 1931 aggregation.

After tonight's game Lawrence has two games remaining, Cornell at Mt. Vernon, Ia., and Carleton at Northfield Minn.

WILDCATS WALLOP MINNESOTA; NOW CERTAIN TITLISTS

Must Lose Next Two Games With Gophers Copping Their Final Contests

CHICAGO—(P)—The remainder of the Western conference basketball looks like just a formality—after what Northwestern did to Minnesota last night. Northwestern, needing any kind of a victory over the second place Gophers, to virtually assure itself of the championship, stepped out to win and made it as impressive as possible—45 to 23. The Wildcats got away in front and improved their margin all the way. Northwestern today led the Big Ten with nine victories and one defeat, with Minnesota second, with seven victories and three reverses. Purdue hopped into a tie with Michigan for third place by defeating the Wolverines, 30 to 21, at LaFayette. The Boilermaker victory squared accounts for the season, Michigan having won at Ann Arbor. Illinois' rejuvenated outfit racked up its fifth straight triumph, mauling Indiana, 39 to 25, at Bloomington, to balance its season account to date. Wisconsin, outplayed on the floor, but exhibiting rare accuracy from the foul line, defeated Ohio State, 23 to 24, at Madison. The Badgers were outscored from the field, 10 goals to six, but canned 10 charity shots to gain the edge. Minnesota's only chance of sharing in the title rests on Northwestern dropping its two remaining games, while the Gophers win both of theirs. Minnesota will play Purdue at Purdue Saturday, while Northwestern goes to Ohio State. Michigan will play its return game at Wisconsin, and Indiana will meet Chicago at Chicago.

SET NEW STANDARDS FOR CANNED PEAS

Inferior Quality to Be Marked With New Government Label

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—On May 17, 1931, the United States Department of Agriculture will officially establish its standards for canned peas and from that time on, all canned peas falling below the standards of quality established by the Department must be labeled as "Below U. S. Standard Low Quality but Not Illegal." Because the Wisconsin standards for canned peas are so excellent, the Department called in Wisconsin experts and officials for consultation before getting and adopting the Federal standard. The Federal standard for canned peas is as follows: "Canned peas under the new standard are the normally flavored and normally colored canned-food consisting of the tender, immature, unbroken seed of the common garden pea, with or without seasoning (sugar, salt), and with added potable water in such proportion that when the contents of the container are poured out and returned to the container, standing on a level surface, and the peas leveled with a spoon without downward pressure, the liquor is not above the upper level of the peas." Standards will also be set for canned peaches and pears. Authority to establish such standards was granted the Department of Agriculture by a Congressional amendment on July 8, 1930, to the Federal food and drugs act.

PAST AUXILIARY HEAD TO SPEAK AT CHURCH

Adeline Wright McCauley, past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary and originator of Poppy Day, will be the speaker at the twilight service at the Methodist church next Sunday afternoon. Her subject will be America through the Telescope; Europe through the Microscope. Mrs. McCauley spent several years in Europe as international president of Pdaa, women's international association for world peace, and at one time she was a member of the national board of the Business and Professional Women's organization. Members of the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary and the Business and Professional Women's club are especially invited to attend the vespers service.

(Editor's Note: This is the fortieth article of a series on the subject of public utilities, covering the principal operating and holding companies, giving their history, field of operations and an analysis of the capital structure. Mr. Hughes will discuss bonds as well as stocks but will present the facts without any attempt to recommend purchase or sale of specific securities.)

New York—Another company public interest in the securities of which is confined to the bonds and the preferred stocks, is Alabama Power. This is controlled by Commonwealth and Southern Corporation through ownership of all the common stock. It serves a large number of communities in the state of Alabama chiefly with electric light and power, having disposed of all of its gas properties over a year ago.

Except for 1930, when there was a slight recession due to the business situation, the company has a record of constantly increasing earnings for seven years. The statement for the 12 months ended December 31st last, shows gross earnings of $17,910,572 against $18,337,201 in the preceding year, and net income of $6,225,768 against $7,223,652 for the preceding 12 months. This is over $18 a share of the total number of preferred shares outstanding.

There are three series of these preferreds, all of them cumulative and all of them of no par value, one paying $7 annually, one paying $6, and one paying $5 a year. The $7 issue is outstanding in the largest amount and all of them have an equal claim on earnings at their respective dividend rates. The $7 preferred is callable at $115 per share, and the $6 and $5 preferred at $105 per share.

Most of these stocks are held in the territory in which the company operates, but there is a good over-the-counter market for the $7 issue in New York. At recent quotations the yield obtainable on this investment stock was over 6 per cent. It has no speculative attraction, inasmuch as price appreciation is limited by the call provision, but for income it is considered highly desirable. The bonds of the company enjoy a high investment rating, all of the various issues selling to yield less than 5 per cent.

Trinity bowlers turned in some impressive scores in the first game with the St. Thomas five and then skidded and lost the last two games. F. Rooney's average of 123 lost the second battle while Rechner's 97 and Dr. Huberty's 109 failed to help any in the third game.

The state bowling tournament at Milwaukee is over, but not for some of the Appleton kegglers who visited the down state alleys, Saturday evening the Cubs and Eagle alleys rolled on the tournament runways the former getting 2,712 and the latter 2,673, both scores down the lists.

Only doubles Sundays did any of the local kegglers look impressive and here Frosty Johnston copped all the honors and probably would have gone into the big money had his partner, "Pop" Currie, been able to get a couple breaks with the hardwood.

In his first games in doubles, Johnston hit a 180 which is a mere bowling score for the Elk kegglers. In the second game he started popping maple, however and rolled a 279 while Currie was pounding along a couple spares and two splits.

Johnston rolled five straight strikes in his big game, then busted into a spare and struck out for the 279 count. In his third game he rolled three more strikes, hit a spare, got two more strikes and then a split, ending up with a couple more spares and strikes and 214 to give him a total of 673 for the three

After losing the first game to the St. Norbert team, the St. Francis five rallied and with C. Wassenberg getting 202 in the second game and G. Schommer 209 in the third, copped two out of the three. The kegging

GRANGE GROUP MAY CONSTRUCT NEW BUILDING

Plans Are Discussed at Meeting of Harrison Star Organization

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Sherwood—Plans for a new building were discussed at a meeting of the Harrison Star Grange at the Darby hall Friday evening. Reports of the building committee were reviewed, and blue prints and sketches of proposed structure examined. The history of granges in America was traced by Nick Bruhl, grange overseer. He pointed out that there are now nearly 3,000 grange halls in all parts of the country, in which approximately $20,000,000 is invested. He also stated that more than 200,000 grange meetings are held annually with grange Pomona in more than 1,200 countries. The grange stands for and upholds the church, the school and every organization which seeks to promote the welfare of humanity. During the half-century of existence it has been fighting in defense of the American farmer, his interests and environment, he pointed out. Among the accomplishments of the grange are: Free delivery of mail to rural homes; establishment of parcel post; creation of postal savings banks; vocational education; inauguration of a rural credit system; protection of dairy products from unfair competition of imitation substitutes. Other achievements are as follows: Interest in maintenance and construction of better roads, especially from farm to market; stringent pure food laws. A study of grange history reveals the heavy burden of the United States from Ulysses S. Grant to Herbert Hoover has endorsed the work of the grange. Mr. Bruhl pointed out. Following Mr. Bruhl's discussion, a committee was appointed to confer with Henry Hupfaut at Darby to secure a special discount on all groceries bought by members on meeting nights. On April 6 the first and second degree of the order will be conferred upon a number of candidates. Another large class will be initiated early this spring, it was announced. After the meeting a program consisting of readings by Miss Dorothy Hawley, Miss Olive Graper, Mrs. Henry Kern and Charles Gear were given. The grange players have chosen a one-act comedy to be given at a Mid-Winter fair on Friday evening at Kaukauna. Those who will take part in the play are Mrs. Ed Graper, Mrs. Fred Knorr, Mrs. Charles Gear and Mrs. Henry Kern.

A general committee of Royal Neighbor lodge members will be in charge of arrangements for the public card party Friday evening at Legion hall. Schafkopf and five hundred will be played, and a hot lunch will be served. The meeting of the Sunday night card club was held this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sewall. Schafkopf was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Fred Morack, Fred Weidenbeck, Mrs. Howard Baker and Carl Lintner. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Joubert, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmalenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meisinger, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Vohs, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lintner, Mr. and Mrs. George White, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weidenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morack and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker. Kotex protects longer

The secret of Kotex superiority is really very simple. It absorbs five times more than cotton and it absorbs laterally, away from the surface, leaving the protective edges dry and comfortable. That's very important. Because both sides are equally absorbent, there's no danger of possible embarrassment by wrong adjustment. Wear it on either side with equal protection, equal comfort. Kotex is adjustable. You can remove layers of filler as your needs change. It deodorizes thoroughly by a special process perfected in the Kotex laboratories. And, as you know, it is so easily disposable that millions of women would not think of returning to old-fashioned methods of sanitary protection.

SPEND $150,645 FOR WORK IN FOREST AREA

Washington—The regional forester of the Lakes States Region has been authorized by the United States Forest service to spend a total of $150,645 for work on the roads and trails over 1,274,519 acres of national forest land in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota, according to a report made by the Service to Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment.

Of this total $1,545 comes from the regular funds and $138,000 from the three million dollar emergency fund authorized by Congress in December. Extensions and improvements of forest roads are now underway in 30 states and are contributing their quota of employment to the troubled times. More than 2,795 men have been employed on 222 projects which will consume almost the entire three million dollars by June 30, the report said.

DEATH FINALLY WON

London—A bulletin, man-made killer, lodged in the heart of Oliver Veale, 50, for 12 years, but it failed to take his life. Old age, did however, as he recently died of natural ailments. Veale received the bullet in the heart in the World war. He carried it around with him since 1917 without giving him any trouble.

ANY HEAT TODAY, LADY? Hamburg—Just like the ice man shouts his wares in the summer, German housewives are buying their heat from a vendor nowadays. Heat merchants are everywhere in the city, during the present winter, selling steam heat stored in great tanks which hold the heat for a week.

SEEDER BOX IS NOT DEPENDABLE

Survey Shows Device Is Responsible for Spread of Weeds in State

The seeder box is under suspicion for contributing generously to what most farmers consider a serious crime.

If the analysis of 1157 different seederbox samples of grain taken from 48 different communities throughout the state can be considered as a fair indication, then the grain that goes into seederboxes is too largely responsible for the spread of weeds in Outagamie-co, believes County Agent Gus Sell.

Of these samples, 45 per cent contained weed seed, and 22 per cent contained sufficient noxious weed seed to make their sale unlawful to a neighbor or to the seed trade. In addition to this, 31 per cent of the samples were mixed with other seeds.

Not knowing that the seed was as bad as it really was, it was often seeded on the same farms on which it was raised and the entire field or farm reinfested with weeds that may have been confined to but a small patch the year before.

This condition can be prevented in Outagamie-co if we will all carefully examine our seed supply now or what is still better, send a sample to the state seed laboratory for a germination and purity test. This service is free to any farmer who wishes the information about seed for his own use. If a farmer has surplus seed that he wishes to sell to his neighbor or to the seed trade he comes under the same ruling as a seedsmen and must pay a small fee for this testing service.

The state seed laboratory is maintained by the state for the service of the farmers, seed growers, seed buyers, and seed sellers. It is described by A. L. Stone, the state seed analyst as a room containing all things necessary for making pure seed. It contains tests of seeds. It contains fine sieves and blowing machines for separating seeds of different sizes and weights, and white boards upon which seed is poured for examination. It has high and low power microscopes with which to identify weed seeds, accurate scales for making the weighings, and different kinds of germinating chambers in which the germination tests are made.

Timber Crop Would Do Away With Taxes

Harvest from 50,000 Acres Would Pay Cost of State Government

Madison—If the state of Wisconsin were harvesting a timber crop of about 50,000 acres a year it would be unnecessary to levy any state income, gas, or other taxes, says John S. Borden in charge of the land economic inventory of the division of lands and state development of agriculture and markets.

"Not only would the timber yield from 80 sections pay the entire $41,000,000 annual cost of state government, but such a timber crop would in addition return revenues in labor and manufacture of $187,800,000 annually to the people and industries of the state."

Statistics on growth and revenue gathered by the land economic inventory in Vilas and Bayfield counties show that the first thinning of white pine and white spruce at the end of 30 years pays for the cost of land, planting, and compound interest and leaves a net profit of $5.36 per acre. A second thinning at the end of 60 years produces a net profit or income of $14.91 per acre and a final cutting at the end of 90 years will return $739.23. Considerably greater revenue can be obtained if the trees are allowed to stand a century.

Mr. Borden, allow for the death by disease or suppression for over one-half of the trees. A total of 1,210 trees is planted per acre and 100 trees will die or be suppressed. The estimates are based solely on stumpage value of the forest crop at $4 per cord and $15 per thousand board feet. Cost of planting is given at $6 per acre and cost of land at present prices at $2. Protection and taxes are calculated at 18c per acre per year and interest costs are compounded at 4 per cent.

Vancouver—Although the flesh of an octopus would be revolting to Americans, Orientals relish this fish, and Canadian fisheries are selling thousands of pounds of this fish in Japan and China. The meat brings between five and ten cents a pound on the market.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1244 D. Marquette Ave., Minneapolis, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any other doctor who tells you that you must have a life of worry and the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

OFFER 2,300 BRANDS OF FEED TO FARMERS

Madison—Over 2,300 brands of feeding stuffs were offered to Wisconsin farmers in 1930, according to state chemist Walter B. Griem, in the new bulletin 114, "Feeder's Guide to Quality," just issued by the department of agriculture and markets. The bulletin may be obtained free of charge on application to the state department of agriculture and markets.

Of the brands offered it is estimated that Wisconsin farmers purchased $30,000,000 worth. Samples of all feeds sold in Wisconsin are tested in the state laboratory and in this process thousands of chemical analyses are made annually.

Among the new feeds listed in the bulletin are the various mineral mixtures and cod liver oil compounds. In order to determine the amount of vitamins found in various feeds, the laboratory has found it necessary to feed the various mixtures to young chickens and to determine the ash content of the bones. Iodized common salt is also listed in the bulletin as it is coming into wider use as insurance against common goiter and hairless pigs in various sections of the state.

BUSINESS IMPROVING GRADUALLY—SCHWAB

New York—(AP)—Business conditions are improving slowly, gradually and surely in the opinion of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of Bethlehem Steel corporation, who returned on the steamer Virginia Monday from a two-weeks vacation in Havana.

"I am glad to see gradual improvement," he said. "I would rather have it that way than for things to come back with a big rush, for business will be on a sounder basis than before."

He said everything appeared favorable for a good year and pointed out that steel production in January showed a large gain over December. He said February will show another gain over January.

In Cuba Mr. Schwab visited President Gerardo Machado. He said he

NOTE INCREASE IN STOCKS OF CABBAGE

One Thousand More Tons Now on Hand Than in 1930, Report Shows

Madison—Stocks of cabbage in storage for market are larger now than they were a year ago both in Wisconsin and for the country as a whole. The Wisconsin stocks are now estimated at 16,986 tons, which is over one thousand tons more than a year ago. About 19 per cent of the Danish cabbage in Wisconsin was estimated to be still available for market in January, according to the estimates of the Wisconsin and United States departments of agriculture at Madison.

The estimate of total stocks of cabbage on hand January 1, 1931, is 62,244 tons compared with the revised estimate of 55,705 tons on hand January 1, 1930. Holdings of January 1, 1931, were 12 per cent larger than those of January 1, 1930, but were six per cent less than stocks on hand January 1, 1929. About two-thirds of the stocks on hand January 1, 1931, were reported in the hands of growers and about one-third in the hands of dealers, including grower dealers.

The estimate of 62,244 tons on hand January 1, is the equivalent of 4,980 cars of 12.5 tons each. This estimate by the United States division of crop estimates, however, is not a forecast of carlot movement after January 1. In addition to movement by rail, it includes also that part of the commercial crop available for sale on January 1, which will move by truck, be sold locally, or lost through spoilage or shrinkage after January 1.

If past relationships between carlot shipments before and after January 1, hold good, movement of Danish cabbage by rail after January 1, is likely to range from 3,600 to 3,800 cars. Shipments by rail after January 1, 1930 amounted to 3,233 cars, and the average for the same period during the five years preceding 1930, was 4,529 cars.

Fight Fat In Your Doctor's Way

He Knows What's Right

Physicians the world over now employ a new method of treating obesity. It is based on modern science, and aims to correct the cause. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs.

The reason is this: Medical research has found a great cause of obesity is a weakened thyroid gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. When that secretion is scant, too much food turns to fat.

So physicians now feed the factor that is lacking. That is one great reason why excess fat is so much less common than it used to be.

Used in Marmola

Marmola prescription tablets supply this needed factor in ideal combination. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. A book in each box gives the formula complete and explains the results. The purpose is to supply this new method, at a modest price, to all who are over-fat.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and the use has spread. It has for two decades held top place in this field.

Now you see the results wherever you look. Your own friends can tell you of them. Excess fat has been disappearing at a rapid rate in late years.

MARMOLA Prescription Tablets

The Right Way to Reduce

As weight comes down, watch the new vitality, new vim. Not only because you lose the burden of fat, but for other reasons. Other ductless glands depend on the thyroid for activity. So this simple help may bring many amazing results.

Go try Marmola. A nine-day treatment costs $1 at drug stores. Read the book in the box. When Marmola does for you what it has done for so many, tell others about it. Go start today.

Avoid the Fraud

During all this time, many false treatments have been offered for obesity. Some were harmful, some absurd. One

CHEESE PRODUCERS TO MEET AT FOND DU LAC

Fond du Lac.—Farmers, cheese makers and cheese dealers from all parts of the state are meeting here Thursday, February 26 in Armory B to take action on the final report of the investigation into the Plymouth Cheese Board. The meeting is being called by Charles L. Hill, chairman of the department of agriculture and markets whose specialists have been studying the history and methods of the board for several months.

One of the problems which the meeting will face is the discussion of ways and means to bring back bargaining into the setting of the price on cheese. It is charged that all cheese offered on the Plymouth Board is offered by dealers who are interested in maintaining a relatively low level of prices.

A state committee is expected to be appointed to work out a definite plan of operation.

STATE SCORED FOR NEGLECT OF PRISONERS

Legislators Will Visit Waupun to Verify Aubrey Williams' Charges

Madison—(AP)—Members of the state legislature Friday will visit the state penitentiary at Waupun to verify charges of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work that "Wisconsin has grossly neglected her charitable and correctional institutions."

Both the senate and assembly voted favorably on a joint resolution to visit the state prison. Members of the two houses will be transported from Madison by business men of the latter city.

In an address here yesterday Aubrey Williams, general secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, said neglect of state institutions for the past 15 years has brought about a crisis of affairs that amounts to a state. He pointed out that the state prison was built to house 350 and is now attempting to house about 1600. During the past ten years there has been an increase of about 60 per cent in the prison population.

Need Hospital
"Probably the most shameful aspect of the situation at Waupun is the hospital," he said. "Year after year it has been pointed out to the legislature that there are no hospital facilities at the institution worthy of the name. The upstairs of a supply building has been turned into a sort of a hospital. There are some eighteen beds in this so-called hospital. The average number of those in the institution needing hospital care runs easily over 100."

"Recently a report indicated that there were 22 active cases of tuberculosis and 16 cases of advanced syphilis. The state board of control makes the statement that at least three of the recent deaths could have been avoided if there had been hospital facilities. Unless the board of control can find funds out of the meagre appropriation for capital to construct a hospital men in the state prison will continue to be accorded a neglect which people in their own communities would under no condition tolerate."

Mr. Williams also pointed out that the board of control has requested a minimum of $6,894,968 for these institutions but that the Governor has recommended an appropriation of only $225,000 a year for capital purposes.

Must Face Facts
"Obviously these conditions cannot continue," Mr. Williams said. "Whether the Governor and the legislature wish to or not, they cannot turn their backs on the state institution. The hard facts of the crowded conditions, the lack of hospital facilities, force the issue. More funds will have to be appropriated for the people of Wisconsin will not tolerate a form of treatment even of those put in the state penal and correctional institutions that is inhuman and brutal."

The need for greater appropriations to take care of a program of rehabilitation in penal and correctional institutions was emphasized by Col. John J. Hannan, president of the board of control, in a radio address over station WTMJ at Milwaukee last night.

"What the state of Wisconsin should have and what the board of control is asking of the legislature," Col. Hannan said, "is that its institutions be equipped so as to treat, train, rehabilitate and place back into society those that can be trained and treated and cured and placed back."

Plant Perennials For Permanent Garden Beauty

Happily for most of us, perennials add a permanent note of gaiety and color to the outdoor living room, and yet require little effort and attention to insure their successful growth. Perennials might well be called the "Busy Man's Flower" for a colorful border once worked out and planted becomes a permanent feature, returning year after year, and it saves the effort involved in arranging temporary plantings each year.

Spring is the ideal time to plant most perennials, with the possible exception of those which come into bloom in the very earliest weeks of spring.

Perennials will grow in almost any location, but thought should be given to the proper position of varieties. For instance, one cannot expect to grow water-side plants in a dry spot upon a hill, nor sun-loving perennials to thrive in the shade. Nature is perhaps the best guide in this, so around a creek or pond, for instance, we may plant Hemerocallis, Iris, Liatris, Funkia or Anchusa.

In a sunny border where the soil is rich and no extremes of moisture conditions are encountered, one may plant to good advantage the old favorites such as Phlox, Larkspur, Coreopsis, Shasta Daisy, Columbine, Canterbury Bells and Foxglove.

There are so many attractive flowers to choose from that one is very apt to forge the appearance of unity in the garden and select too many varieties to be used.

The distance between the plants is a very important consideration on this often depends the size of the border. A perennial is a comparatively slow-growing subject which develops its greatest beauty frequently after a period of years. Those varieties such as Phlox, Bleeding Heart, German Iris, Delphinium and Peony, which have great permanence and need quite a little room, should be planted with sufficient space between to allow for their later development. During the first year the bare places that would thus occur may be devoted to annuals or bulbs. The proper distance apart then really depends upon the permanency of the plant and the size which it will attain when fully developed. Thus some very upright and narrow perennials will require little ground space and may be planted close together, while the bushy spreading kind may sometimes need three feet of space between them for proper development.

If you start your perennial plantings with young, vigorous plants—and after all, they are the best very ones for a new border—and then give them the proper soil in which to grow, encouraging them with the proper treatment, you may expect successful results right from the first year.

FOUR WISCONSIN CITIES INCLUDED IN U. S. SURVEY

Data Concerning Preventive Medical Surveys Given at Conference

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Surveys of four Wisconsin cities, Madison, Racine, Kenosha, and Milwaukee, are included in the data concerning preventive medical services utilized by parents in 146 cities to guard the health of children under six years of age, presented to the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection by its medical section.

The 146 cities are divided into four tables according to population. Madison and Kenosha are listed with 34 other cities under 65,000 population; Racine with 35 from 65,000 to 104,000; and Milwaukee with 35 of more than 225,000 population.

Madison is thirteenth in rank in its group in health examinations with 49 per cent of its children of preschool age being given examinations by doctors although not ill; also thirteenth in rank in dental examinations with 14 per cent of its children visiting the dentist; nineteenth in vaccinations with nine per cent of its children vaccinated against small pox; and fourteenth in immunization against diphtheria, with 17 per cent taking this precaution.

Kenosha, in the same group, is fifth in health examinations with 63 per cent of its children examined; twenty-fourth in dental work with 8 per cent examined; twenty-third in vaccination with 8 per cent; and twenty-sixth in immunization with six per cent.

Racine is ninth in its class in health examination with 61 per cent; twenty-fourth in dental examinations with 7 per cent; ninth in vaccinations with 17 per cent; and

GEORGE AND MARTHA TWINS BUT ARE BORN ON DIFFERENT DATES

Chicago—(AP)—A boy was born to Mrs. Nicholas Bushman a few minutes before midnight Sunday, George Washington's birthday anniversary. He was named George Washington Bushman. A few minutes after midnight the boy's twin sister was born. She got the name of Martha Washington Bushman.

"That," said one of the nurses on duty today when the facts were learned, "was the only patriotic thing to do. The little girl couldn't help it because she was not born a few minutes earlier."

The twins' father, who is out of work, had a bit of an argument with their mother about the names but he finally convinced her George and Martha were O. K.

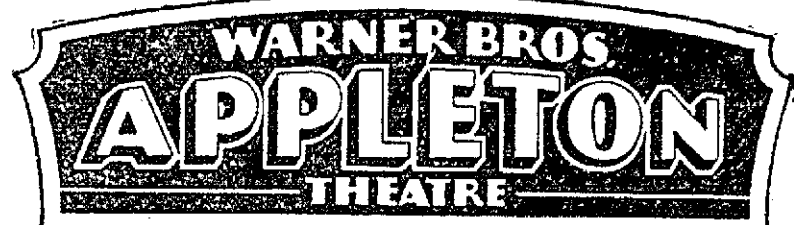

"That's because I love America," he said. "I love this country even when times are bad."

eleventh in immunizations with 21 per cent.

Milwaukee is twenty-third in health examinations with 48 per cent; sixteenth in dental examinations with 13 per cent; twenty-first in vaccinations with 14 per cent; and twelfth in immunizations with 21 per cent.

Dean Charles Russell Bardeen of the University of Wisconsin Medical School at Madison is the Badger State's only representative on the section on Medical Service which made this report to the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. This section held a belated meeting in Washington, which closed Saturday, Feb. 21.

Leading cities for the country as a whole in the four health divisions are Berkeley, Calif., with 82 per cent of its children under six years old receiving health examinations; Cleveland Heights, Ohio, with 46 per cent in dental health examinations; New York City with 43 per cent of its children vaccinated against smallpox; and Niagara Falls, N. Y., with 60 per cent of its children immunized against diphtheria.

GERMANY PAYS JOBLESS MORE THAN BRITAIN

Unemployment Insurance Plan Pays Workers 80 Per Cent of Former Wages

Berlin.—In Germany, as in Great Britain, the continued trade depression and the mounting army of several million unemployed has proved a big drain on the treasury. However, the Germans have worked out their unemployment scheme so scientifically that it is costing the country less than Great Britain. This is, perhaps, partly due to the fact that Germany has had a longer experience with unemployment insurance than the English. In fact, Germany is the pioneer in the matter. Years before the war, in the endeavor to steal as much of the thunder from the much feared Socialists as he could, the ex-kaiser put through unemployment insurance schemes. The methods have been frequently changed since the war, in the endeavor to make the plan less of a burden on the state.

One radical difference between the plans as worked out in Germany and England is that in England the state planks down a certain sum for each contribution the workers and the employers put down. In Germany the state only contributes when there is a deficit in the fund. The first endeavor is to try to make the fund solely dependent on contributions by employers and employees. However, this has failed in recent years, owing to the increasing unemployment.

Pay Percentage
Another radical difference is that in Great Britain every worker, no matter what the wage, pays the same certain fixed amount. In Germany, the worker pays a fixed percentage of his weekly wages. Thus the better paid employee pays more than the poorer paid one and, when he draws benefits, gets a correspondingly higher amount.

In Germany every insured person pays an amount equal to 3 1/2 per cent of his wages each week. The employer also pays in an amount equal to 3 1/2 per cent of the wages of each insured worker.

When it comes to drawing benefits for unemployment, the workers are divided into 11 classes. Class 1 is composed of the poorest paid workers. Class 2 of the ones in the next scale above and so on to Class 11, which comprises the highest paid workers.

What Single Men Get
The benefits drawn by unmarried workers are as follows:

- Class 1—75 per cent of the wages he drew in his last job.
- Class 2—65 per cent.
- Class 3—55 per cent.
- Class 4—45 per cent.
- Classes 5 and 6—40 per cent.
- Class 7—37.5 per cent.
- Classes 8 to 11—35 per cent.

Married Men
For married men or for married women, who are the sole support of their family:

- Classes 1 and 2—80 per cent.
- Class 3—75 per cent.
- Class 4—72 per cent.
- Classes 5 and 6—65 per cent.
- Class 7—62.5 per cent.
- Classes 8 to 11—60 per cent.

Ordinarily these benefits are paid for 26 weeks. But if the insured persons live in an industrially depressed area where conditions for work are very poor, the benefits may be extended for 39 weeks.

State Aids Fund
When this period has been exceeded and the insured person is still out of work, he falls out of the category of those drawing unemployment insurance and comes within the emergency category. There is also a radical method of financing this. As stated the funds for the unemployment insurance are secured from the workers and the employers, the state making up any deficit. But for the emergency category the Reich contributes four-fifths of the money and the city or county contributes one-fifth. The financing, therefore, falls upon the taxpayers.

Workers draw benefits under the emergency category for 33 weeks, or, if they are over 40 in age, for a period of 45 weeks. There is also a difference in the payments made. Those in Classes 1 to 4 get the same as under the insurance benefits. But in all other classes, they get the benefits of the next class. For instance, the man in Class 6 under the insurance scheme would get 65 per cent of his wages. But under the benefits of Class 7—62.5 per cent of his wages.

Dole Comes Next

Finally, if the worker is still unemployed and has exhausted the benefits he may draw under the emergency category, he at last falls on what is a real dole. This is paid wholly out of the treasury of the city or the county. Nothing is paid into this fund by the Reich, nor by the individual states such as Prussia or Bavaria. It thus becomes a burden on the taxpayers of the city or county and there is much complaint about these mounting costs. The deficits in the unemployment insurance fund proper are made good by the Reich partially by loans, partially by outright money grants. On March 1, 1930, the fund was thus indebted to the Reich to the extent of more than 150 million dollars.

For the present year, it was estimated the insurance scheme would bring in the form of payments by workers and employers the grand total of 1,630,000,000 marks, which would enable the plan to pay benefits to 1,730,000 persons without any contributions from the Reich.

The tax on incomes in Germany is about 20 per cent of what a man earns, as compared to about 22 per cent in Great Britain.

Oslo — Through a system of beer checks, Sweden reduced the number of convictions for drunkenness from 58,908 in 1913 to 29,990 in 1930. The system consists of giving each worker a "control" book which entitles him to a certain number of drinks at a liquor shop where he is registered. If the person abuses his privilege, it is taken from him.
